BOTH CAMPS CLAIMING CONFIDENCE IN RESULT OF BALLOTING TODAY

Standard Bearers of the Leading Parties Remained Quietly at Home Last Night.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED

Women's Part in the National Election Today is One of the Outstanding Features.

TO ELECT 33 U. S. SENATORS

Thirty-Five Governors and 435 Representatives.

New York, Nov. 6. — On the eve of the presidential election, general confidence in the result of the balloting tomorrow was expressed in the camps of the rival Republican and Democratic forces. Political workers had completed their tasks, their leaders had issued the usual final forecasts and nothing remained but the work of bringing out the vote.

Tonight the standard bearers of the leading parties remained quietly at their homes, President Woodrow Wilson at Shadow Lawn and Charles E. Hughes at his hotel in New York. Surrounded only by immediate members of their families, the candidates plan to receive the election returns at their homes. Tomorrow Mr. Wilson will go to Princeton to vote at the old fire engine house, near the Princeton campus. Mr. Hughes will vote in a laundry on 44th street, New York, near his hotel headquarters.

Generally Fair Weather.

The weather man has promised generally fair weather and moderate temperature in most parts of the country for election day, and political leaders said this presaged the coming of a record-breaking vote.

Officials to be elected follow:

President and Vice President.

Thirty-three United States senators.

Four hundred and thirty-five members of the House of Representatives.

Thirty-five governors.

Legislatures and other minor state officers.

A number of states will vote on certain amendments, chiefly of local interest. The states of Idaho, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska and South Dakota will, however, vote on prohibition questions, an issue that has loomed large on the political horizon for some years. The territory of Alaska will also vote on this question. In Arizona an amendment for the abolition of capital punishment will be up for popular decision.

Women Vote in 12 States.

Women's part in the presidential election is one of the outstanding features. In one-quarter of the 48 states women have the vote this year. The 12 states are Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Nevada, Montana and Illinois.

The women in the last named six states have the vote for President this year for the first time. The states involved have 91 electoral votes, a little more than one-sixth of the Electoral College's total votes.

Miss Jeannette Rankin, of Montana, is running for Congress on the Republican ticket, and in California Mrs. Josephine Fernald, of San Francisco, is an aspirant for a seat in Congress as a Democrat. If they are elected they will be the first women to win seats in the National House of Representatives.

McCORMICK AND WILLCOX ADHERE TO THEIR CLAIMS

New York, Nov. 6. — Election eve claims of victory at the polls tomorrow were made tonight by Vance C. McCormick and William R. Willcox, chairman of the Democratic and Republican national committees.

Before starting for his home in Harrisburg to vote, Mr. McCormick declared there was a fighting chance of President Wilson having the electoral votes of Utah and one or two other hitherto rock-ribbed Republican states in addition to the 364 votes he already has claimed. He will return to this city early tomorrow night.

"On this closing day of the campaign," said Chairman Willcox, "I confidently state that the battle has been won for Hughes and Fairbanks, and that they will be elected by a majority of not less than 100 in the electoral college."

IN NEW YORK STATE BOTH SIDES PROFESS CONFIDENCE

New York, November 6. — With Governor Whitman and Samuel Seabury, Republican and Democratic candidates for governor, respectively, making final appeals to the voters of this city, the New York state campaign closed tonight. The head of each state ticket joined his campaign managers in professing confidence in the outcome of the balloting tomorrow.

Besides voting for presidential electors and a state ticket, the voters of this state will elect a United States senator, a congressional delegation and will pass on the proposition of a $10,000,000 bond issue for a site for a state park and decide whether to call another constitutional convention.

Forecasts of the results tomorrow varied widely, but it was generally agreed that the tide for the national ticket

GENERALLY FAIR WEATHER FORECASTED FOR TODAY

Washington, Nov. 6.—A special election day forecast issued by the Weather Bureau tonight says:

"The indications are that on election day the weather will be generally fair in all parts of the country, except that rains or snows are probable in the north Rocky Mountain region, extreme northern Minnesota, and Upper Michigan."

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS WASHINGTON, D.C.

OPTIMISTIC NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE

Secretary Tumulty Claims Wilson Will Have 387 Votes in the Electoral College.

MANY PREDICT LANDSLIDE

Messages From Virtually Every State Received at Shadow Lawn Predict a Wilson Victory at the Ballot Box.

Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 6.—After going over with President Wilson optimistic messages from all parts of the country, Secretary Tumulty tonight claimed the President would win tomorrow's election and would have 387 votes in the Electoral College. He did not give a list of the states on which he based his prediction.

The President spent the day quietly at Shadow Lawn, going out for a short time for a game of golf and receiving a delegation for a few minutes in the afternoon. He also said he expressed complete satisfaction over the prospects for tomorrow's voting.

The President will be up soon after day-break tomorrow morning to go to Princeton to vote. He will make the trip by automobile, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, and expects to be back at Shadow Lawn in time for luncheon. In the afternoon he will play golf. In Princeton he will cast his ballot in an old fire engine house and may spend a few minutes visiting old friends.

The President will receive the important returns by telephone from Secretary Tumulty, who will remain in the executive offices in Asbury Park, where elaborate arrangements have been made for receiving election news as speedily as possible. Only Mrs. Wilson and other members of his immediate family will be with the President.

From Virtually Every State.

Messages from Democratic leaders in virtually every state were received by the President today and tonight predicting victory for him tomorrow. John J. Scully, secretary of the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots, telegraphed that his organization has passed resolutions expressing confidence in the President's administration and endorsing his re-election.

A summary of the messages received at the executive offices given out here tonight said:

"Many conservative judgments unqualifiedly predict a landslide and greater optimism prevails at Shadow Lawn than at any period of the campaign."

HUGHES CONFIDENT THAT HE WILL BE ELECTED TODAY

New York, Nov. 6.—Confident that he will be elected tomorrow, Charles E. Hughes went to the theatre tonight and returned early after a quiet day, most of which was spent resting. The Republican nominee will be up tomorrow morning to cast his ballot at a polling place situated in a laundry not far from the hotel where he has established a legal residence since he was nominated. Mr. Hughes had no comment to make tonight on the prospect of victory tomorrow. He takes the position that his campaign ended Saturday night and will have nothing more to say until the result is known.

Mr. Hughes will receive the returns at his hotel tomorrow night by telephone from the headquarters of the Republican National Committee. With him will be members of his family. He gave instructions that he is to be supplied only with significant figures and not with fragmentary returns.

The nominee visited Republican headquarters this afternoon and shook hands with all the workers there. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hughes. Later they went for an automobile ride.

SINCLAIR SPEAKS AT HOME

Delivers Powerful Speech in Final Rally at Fayetteville.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 6.—The 1916 campaign was brought to a close tonight when N. A. Sinclair, of this city, Wilson elector-at-large, delivered one of the most forceful and enthusiastically received speeches ever heard in Fayetteville. Each of the Democratic county candidates also spoke.

Mr. Sinclair, in his address, thoroughly covered both National and State issues and received splendid response from the big crowd present. He eloquently portrayed the achievements of Wilson's administration and the Democratic government of North Carolina. His excoriation of the Republican record and campaign methods was powerful.

WANT APPEAL MADE IN PROCLAMATION

Pa[illegible]aki and Others Want Thanksgiving Day Used for Benefit of All War Sufferers.

SEE PRESIDENT WILSON

Call at Shadow Lawn and Ask That Appeal Be Included in Thanksgiving Proclamation—Thinking of It Already.

Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 6.—President Wilson was asked today to include in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation an appeal to the people of the United States to give aid to European war sufferers. The request was made by Ignace Paderewski, the pianist, and a delegation representing organizations in relief work in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Poland, Russia, Armenia, Syria and other countries.

The committee gave to the President a petition in which it was stated that the gifts of the American people, while generous and constant, are still incommensurate to meet the demands of our brethren in distress, which are constantly increasing, and it should be frankly admitted, are as yet by no means proportional to our resources and are not an adequate expression of national unselfishness."

The committee left Shadow Lawn under the impression that their request would be granted and that the President already had something of the kind in mind.

Charles S. McFarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and Mr. Paderewski, also presented to Mr. Wilson a memorial urging the President to continue his efforts to relieve suffering in Poland.

The memorial was signed by Cardinal Farley and Rabbi Joseph Silverman, of New York, and other men representing the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Mention was made of the failure of efforts of the President to bring about an agreement among European powers to get food in Poland.

Mr. Paderewski also suggested to the President that a day be set aside on which Americans may give money for Polish relief. One such day already has been designated.

Commenting on the action of the Central Powers in proclaiming a new and independent kingdom in Poland, Mr. Paderewski said: "It will only add to the suffering of my people."

TRYING TO FIND CAUSE FOR FAMINE PRICES OF COAL

New York Police Taking Census; Federal Government to Investigate.

New York, Nov. 6.—A census of the coal supply in this city to determine whether speculators are taking advantage of the public in certain sections was begun by the police today.

United States Attorney Marshall, District Attorney Swann and agents of the Department of Justice are investigating the situation to learn if the present famine prices are caused by natural conditions or by an illegal agreement of dealers.

The police also expect from their census to be able to testify as experts should investigations to be started this week reveal a conspiracy to raise the price of coal.

COUNTESS BERNSTORFF TO SEE DEUTSCHLAND

German Ambassador Arrives With Mail for the Emperor.

Take Election Day Off to Visit Undersea Freighter—Guests at Luncheon With Capt. Koenig—To Depart by Friday.

New London, Conn., Nov. 6. — Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, accompanied by his wife, arrived here tonight from Washington for the purpose of visiting tomorrow the undersea freighter Deutschland, now being loaded for her homeward trip.

The ambassador, it is understood, brought a suit case filled with official mail for the Emperor. Count von Bernstorff said his errand is entirely a social one. He decided to take advantage of Washington's official inactivity on election day, he said, by giving the Countess an opportunity to inspect the Deutschland.

The ambassador and his wife were guests tonight at an informal reception at their hotel, attended by Captain Koenig, the Deutschland's commander, and a number of German-Americans of Baltimore and New London.

The work of loading the submarine went forward steadily today, and indications continued to point to a start for Germany on Friday.

Arrangements have been completed for a complimentary banquet here Wednesday night to Captain Koenig and his crew. Governor Holcomb has promised to make an effort to be present and speak.

RUMANIANS TAKE OFFENSIVE IN THE DOBRUDJA REGION

Teutonic Allies Forced to Retreat, But Are Advancing Now in Transylvania.

DEADLOCKED IN FRANCE

Austrians Bringing Up Heavy Reinforcements on Battle Front North of Triest.

After a week or more of doubt concerning operations in the Dobrudja region of Rumania, where the Teutonic allies had been marching almost unimpeded northward from the Black Sea to the Danube, comes the report that the Rumanians have taken the offensive probably aided by Russians, and compelled the enemy to retreat at several points.

On the Transylvanian front, however, the Rumanians, in the Jiul valley, who for some time had been holding the upper hand over the Austro-Germans, forcing them to give ground, have now been stopped, the Teutons having brought up reinforcements. In the Predal pass region, after heavy fighting, the Rumanians also have met with a reverse, being compelled to retreat after long and stubborn battles.

Tenacious Effort in France.

All along the battle line in France, between the Somme and Ancre rivers, the Germans are tenaciously disputing attempts by the British and French to gain further ground. Berlin says that in Sunday's fighting over a front of 12 miles the French and British suffered heavy casualties, and won nothing except a local gain in the St. Pierre-Vaast wood. London admits that the British were compelled to give back to the Germans ground the British had previously won at the Butte de Warlencourt. In the St. Pierre-Vaast wood, however, the French Monday made a further advance in the northern part of the wood and captured additional prisoners—six hundred of whom were taken in the fighting of Sunday and Monday.

Rome reports that the Austrians are bringing up heavy reinforcements on the battle front north of Triest. Here the Austrians apparently have taken the offensive, but nowhere have they been able to regain any of their lost positions, according to Rome.

Bombardments and small infantry attacks continue to feature the fighting in the Macedonian theatre.

London reports that a British submarine in the North Sea off the Danish coast has scored a hit on a German battleship of the dreadnaught class. The amount of damage done to the battleship is not known by the British admiralty.

NORTH CAROLINA SUED BY CUBAN GOVERNMENT

To Secure Payment of $2,186,000 Repudiated Bonds.

First Suit Ever Filed in Supreme Court by Foreign Government Against a State of the American Union—"Carpet Bag" Bonds.

Washington, Nov. 6.—In what was said to be the first suit ever begun in the Supreme Court by a foreign nation against one of the United States, attorneys for Cuba today asked the Supreme Court for leave to file an original petition against the State of North Carolina to secure payment of bonds valued at $2,186,000 subscribed by North Carolina to aid railroad construction in that State nearly 50 years ago. Payment, it was alleged, has been refused.

The bonds were issued by North Carolina in subscriptions to aid construction of the Western North Carolina; Williamston & Tarboro; Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford, and Western railroads.

ALL COURTS HAVE HELD THE REPUDIATED BONDS INVALID.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6.—The bonds involved in the proceedings begun in the Supreme Court today by attorneys representing the Cuban government, in an effort to recover $2,186,000 from the State of North Carolina, were known as special tax bonds and were issued by the so-called "carpet bag" administrations in this State immediately after the Civil War. The issues named were among those later repudiated by the Legislature and, although numerous suits have been filed against the State by bond holders, all courts thus far have held the repudiated issues invalid.

PROBE INTO CLASH WITH I.W.W. BEGINS

Death of Jefferson Beard, of Citizens' Posse, Brings Fatalities to Seven.

FIRST SHOT FROM BOAT?

Nearly 300 of the Excursionists Arrested Upon Return to Seattle and Are Now in Jail—Six Dynamite Suspects Arrested.

Everett, Wash., Nov. 6. — Responsibility for the pitched battle between 250 members of the Industrial workers of the World and a posse of 150 Everett citizens at the city dock yesterday, in which seven men lost their lives and fifty were wounded, was placed upon the men on the boat, by the coroner's jury, which investigated the death of the two Everett men killed in the riot.

The inquest was held over the bodies of Charles O. Curtiss, a posseman who was instantly killed, and Deputy Sheriff Jefferson Beard, who died of his wounds early today.

All but two of the witnesses called testified that the first shots were fired from the steamer Verona, on which the invading Industrial Workers came from Seattle.

William H. Bridges, a deputy sheriff, testified concerning the conversation that passed between Sheriff McRae and the men on the boat before the shooting began. According to Bridges, the conversation between the sheriff and the Industrial Workers follows:

"Boys, I'd like to speak to the leader of the bunch. Who is your leader?" asked Sheriff McRae.

"We're all leaders," shouted the men on the Verona, in chorus.

"I want to tell you," McRae replied, "that you can't land in this town. You must stay on the boat and go back to Seattle. You can't land here."

"The hell we can't," shouted a man, standing in the bow of the boat. Then, according to Bridges, the shooting began.

Everett, Wash., Nov. 6.—Investigation was started today to determine responsibility for the death of Lieutenant Charles Curtiss, deputy sheriff and reserve officer of the Washington National Guard, shot and killed yesterday when one hundred and fifty armed citizens clashed with 230 or more Industrial Workers of the World, who were attempting to land here from a steamer. The death today of Jefferson Beard, of the Citizens' posse, brought the fatalities to seven—two of the posse and five Industrial Workers.

Witnesses testified today at the coroner's inquest that the first shot came from the boat soon after it tied up at the pier. The Industrial Workers came here on an excursion, chartering the steamer Verona for the trip from Seattle, where nearly 300 of the excursionists were arrested and are still in jail.

Street meetings had been planned in Everett, where a spindle weavers' strike has been in progress and the citizens' posse was organized to prevent the speakers and their friends from landing.

REPUBLICAN ELECTOR TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Frank B. Ruhr, of St. Louis, Missouri, Commits Suicide.

Leaves Vacancy, Which is Filled by Executive Committee, But Many Ballots Expected to be Cast for Dead Man.

St. Louis, Nov. 6. — Frank B. Ruhr, Republican candidate for presidential elector from the Tenth Missouri district, committed suicide today, thereby leaving a vacancy on the Republican ballot. The Republican State committee met and nominated Henry Kersting to fill the vacancy.

The nomination of Kersting was too late to get on the official ballot, and Republican voters will be urged to write in the name. It is not thought possible, however, that this information will reach all the voters of the State, and it is predicted that thousands will vote for the dead man.

The death of Ruhr and the eleventh-hour nomination of Kersting, it is thought, may result in a division of the Republican votes for elector from the Tenth district, and even if Hughes carries the state it is possible that a Democrat will be elected in that district. Should the state go Democratic, the death of Ruhr will have no effect in the Electoral College.

One hundred and eighty thousand slips, containing the name of Kersting for elector, were printed tonight and will be sent to the St. Louis polling places tomorrow morning. The judges will be instructed to paste them on the ballots.

LABOR LEADER DENOUNCES FALSE INTERVIEW IN AD.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Thomas J. He authorized the statement that he never had made the assertions quoted or anything like them.

5,000 ANSONIANS HEAR MR. DANIELS

Greatest Crowd of White Men Ever Gathered in Wadesboro Participates in Rally.

ON ITS FEET FIVE HOURS

Hon. H. S. Ward, in Two-Hour Speech That Thrills, Follows Address of Nearly Two Hours by the Secretary of the Navy.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Wadesboro, N. C., Nov. 6.—This has been a red letter day for Democracy in Anson. The largest assemblage of white men ever gathered in Wadesboro was here to greet Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, and to hear the political issues discussed. In the audience were seen citizens from Richmond, Chesterfield, Union and Stanley counties. The town is in gala attire.

Buntings streaming from every business house and public building, flags flying from residences and automobiles decorated in National colors bespeak the intense interest being taken in politics by the citizens in this county. The Democrats have accepted the challenge of the Republicans of the Seventh congressional district and will roll up a majority for Anson county's nominee, Hon. L. D. Robinson, that will forever silence Republican claims in this district.

A parade of more than two miles in length, including gaily decorated automobiles and gallant horeback riders, a brass band of 26 pieces from Monroe and the Wadesboro brass band, formed on Rutherford street and proceeded to the station where Mr. Daniels was met upon his arrival on the Seaboard train at 10:30. From the station the parade, headed by a band, immediately followed by the Nation's greatest secretary, in a car with Hon. L. D. Robinson, W. E. Brock, T. C. Coxe, Hallet S. Ward and Hector Allen, moved through the principal streets of the city and to the west entrance to the court house, where a platform had been erected and decorated and from which the speakers faced more than five thousand of as representative a body of white men as ever gathered to do honor to a distinguished guest.

The first speaker of the occasion was T. C. Coxe who most graciously introduced Hon. L. D. Dickinson, as the next congressman from the Seventh district. Mr. Robinson made a happy speech, expressing implicit confidence in a victory for the Democratic ticket in both State and Nation. He introduced Solicitor W. E. Brock, who in a most pleasing manner presented the guest of honor, Secretary Daniels.

Mr. Daniels' speech was listened to with rapt attention and he was applauded frequently and vociferously. Beginning at 11 o'clock Mr. Daniels expounded pure Democracy for nearly two hours and concluded his most entertaining speech only because he was compelled to catch the Southbound train for Winston-Salem.

Following Mr. Daniels' speech, Mr. James A. Lockhart arrested the attention of the audience and told them that he was going to introduce the best speaker in the State, presenting to them Hon. Hallet S. Ward, of Washington, N. C. For more than two hours Mr. Ward entertained this vast audience in a manner as to amply justify the introduction of Mr. Lockhart.

When he would make a pause as if to conclude the crowd yelled "Go on" and he continued his "hot stuff" Democracy to the delight of his audience. The audience, which had been on its feet for about five hours, showed no signs of fatigue at the conclusion of Mr. Ward's address. A Wadesboro audience has never heard a better speaker and a speaker has never been given more undivided attention.

TAFT JEERED FROM THE PLATFORM IN CONNECTICUT

Munitions Workers Refused to Allow Him to Make Speech.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—When former President Taft attempted to make a political speech to a crowd of workmen at a local munitions factory today, he was jeered and hooted to such an extent that he was obliged to abandon his speech, after talking a few minutes.

Speaking of the affair afterward, Professor Taft said:

"I have no complaint to make. Such demonstrations, I am disposed to think, make votes for the Republican party."

LED TORCHLIGHT PARADE

CONSIDERED MASTERFUL

Audience Listens to Secretary for Two Hours.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 6.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels received the greatest ovation here tonight that has been extended to any man in twenty years when he addressed the packed court room here for more than two hours, following an address to the overflow meeting from the steps. He led a torchlight procession four blocks long through the principal streets of the city. His speech was a masterful one, and created more enthusiasm than has been seen here in years.

Secretary Daniels' Address.

Secretary Daniels spoke in part as follows:

"When Woodrow Wilson stepped forward to begin his inaugural address on the 4th of March, 1913, under the eastern shadow of the splendid dome of the Capitol, he found that he was about to speak to a hollow square bounded by the West Point cadets, the Annapolis midshipmen, and regiments of the National Guard. In the distance beyond this cordon of troops the mass of people were seen. The President-elect turned around and spoke to the grand marshal of the military there present, and in a few moments orderlies were seen running to the commands of the various bodies of troops. In another moment there were great breaches in the lines of soldiers, through which the tide of people flowed quickly in and filled up the hollow square under the very eye and voice of the speaker. Woodrow Wilson had let the people in. The act was like a symbol. It was a parable of the whole administration, the success of which may well be summed up in the statement that he has "driven the lobbyist out and let the people in."

Insidious Lobby.

"The administration, in the energy of its splendid team work, had hardly settled down to business in shaping its first great constructive measure, the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill, before it was quite evident, as the President himself charged, that 'a numerous, industrious, and insidious lobby' was at work. The President's statement startled the country. Under the regime of the Republican party for 16 years previously, it was expected that the lobby should be at hand. It was no new thing to see swarming into the hotels that front on Pennsylvania avenue and into the corridors of the Capitol, representatives of the great combinations and trusts that had been mothered by the high protective tariff, and that had grown to great monopolistic proportions under its fostering care. That 'the tariff is the mother of trusts,' was accepted orthodox doctrine by the entire Republican constituency of America, but when a Democratic administration came into power, it was not believed that the lobby would be so bold. The President, however, spoke with intense earnestness and with serious conviction. He said in part, 'there is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill. It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby and be voiceless in these matters while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit.' The statement was at first received by a large part of the press and the people with incredulity, but after the lobby investigating committee, which was called forth by the crisis presented, proceeded with its work, it became plainly evident that the President was entirely correct. This investigating committee was headed by Senator Lee S. Overman of our own State, and the thoroughness with which he lifted the lid in this investigation, and the amazing revelations which he brought to light, will ever be the crowning glory of his service as a great Senator. Evidence adduced showed that the sugar growing interests spent as much as $100,000 in agitation against free sugar, though there was no proof that this particular item was illegally expended. It was in evidence that more than 1,000,000 documents had been mailed under the franks of Congressmen in opposition to free sugar. Undue influence was exerted upon other members, it was alleged, by means of 'business, political and sympathetic' reasons. It was proven that one shameless lobbyist had impersonated, over the long distance telephone, several of the leading members of Congress and had offered in their

FLAG OF POLAND IS HOISTED AT LUBLIN

WARSAW HEARS MANIFESTO

Allied Monarchs "Solemnly Guarantee the Re-Establishment of the Kingdom"—Aeroplane Drops Shower of Banners.

Berlin, Nov. 6. (Via Sayville) — The establishment of the new kingdom of Poland was proclaimed at Lublin in the palace of the governor-general, according to a dispatch from that city. The proclamation took place in the presence of the administrator-general, the clergy of the diocese, deputies from all Polish associations, veterans of 1863, the vice-president of the Central Relief committee, and numerous officers.

Accompanied by his associates, the governor-general entered the room and read the proclamation. At its conclusion he said:

"The allied monarchs thus most solemnly guarantee the re-establishment of the kingdom of Poland. This fact cannot be any more overturned."

He concluded with a cheer for Poland in the Polish language, and was frantically applauded. At the same time the Polish flag was hoisted and the Austro-Hungarian troops rendered honors to it while the band played the national anthem, amid the shouts of an immense crowd before the palace. Two airplanes dropped a large number of Polish banners and the Polish flag was hoisted beside the Austro-Hungarian colors on all public buildings. Later a te Deum was held at the cathedral, with the assistance of all the clergy. The governor-general decreed all or a part amnesty for all worthy of it.

Warsaw, Sunday, Nov. 5, via Berlin, Nov. The ceremony was designated as the re-birth of the Polish nation.

namite suspects, it became known today. Nitroglycerine, fuses, caps, powder and other explosives were found on three of the men under arrest, the police say.

According to the police, 15 men are under suspicion. It was first thought that these men were on their way to Everett, Wash. A chance word dropped by one of the prisoners about the anniversary of Joseph Hillstrom's death going to be celebrated this month, has started an investigation which may reveal the real object of the band of suspected dynamiters gathering here.

Hillstrom, an Industrial Worker of the World leader, was executed here a year ago for the murder of a Salt Lake merchant.

CHARGES OF MURDER TO BE FILED AGAINST I. W. W. MEN

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Announcement by Prosecuting Attorney Webb, of Snohomish county, that charges f murder would be filed against all members of the Industrial Workers of the World who could be identified as actually having participated in the gun fight at Everett, Wash., when seven men were killed and 50 wounded, marked today's developments in Seattle in the aftermath of the riot.

The refusal of Judge King Dykeman, in the superior court here, to release on writs of habeas corpus three women held in jail in connection with the riot and the statement of Herbert Mahler, secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers, that his organization would seek to prosecute members of the Everett citizens' committee on murder charges, were other incidents of the shooting that focussed public attention.

Attorney Webb brought several witnesses to Seattle today for attempted identification of the men who actually fired upon the Everett posse but none of the witnesses was able to make positive identification. Other witness s will be brought here for that purpose.

Adjutant General Thompson, of the Washington National Guard, tonight dismissed from duty 500 National Guardsmen who had been held ready for emergency at the armories in Seattle, Everett and Snohomish. General Thompson said there was no further need of keeping the Guardsmen under arms.

Money from various Industrial Workers of the World locals is being received for the defense of the men under arrest, several hu... dollars having been telegraphed from Portland, Spokane, Los Angeles and other cities today.

Arrangements are being made by the local Industrial Workers to conduct the funeral of the five members of the organization who were killed at Everett. Their bodies are in the county morgue here. Secretary Mahler said the Industrial Workers would make the funeral the occasion of a big demonstration.

CARRANZA FORCES READY FOR ATTACK

More Than 8,000 Seasoned Fighters in Garrison at Chihuahua City, Says Trevino.

AND WILL NOT EVACUATE

Carranza General Declares Villa Forces Cannot Possibly Overcome Fortifications Without Artillery, Which They Lack.

Chihuahua City, Mex., Nov. 6.—Evacuation of this city by the Carranza forces is not being considered and, if an attack is made by the Villa bandits, the garrison will repulse the bandits, General Trevino declared to the correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday.

"We have more than 8,000 seasoned fighters in the garrison here and our fortifications are impossible to overcome without heavy artillery, which Villa does not possess," General Trevino stated. "We are prepared for an attack and my men are ready to fight to the last. The spirit of the men is unbroken and I am determined to remain in Chihuahua City and repulse the bandit horde."

It is expected the junction of Carranza forces at Escalon, south of Jimenez, will be completed tomorrow when the forces of General Maycotte, those of General Arrieta, another column under General Murgia and the forces from Parral, under General Luis Herrera will meet and form a division in command of General Murgia. The offensive against the Villa bandits then will be resumed, according to a statement made at military headquarters. It is expected General Murgia will have approximately 11,000 troops in his division when it is completed.

would be turned by those who voted as Progressives four years ago. The combined Taft and Roosevelt vote in 1912 was 845,580, as compared with 655,573 for Wilson. In Greater New York, which the Republicans concede will return a Democratic plurality this year, the Taft and Roosevelt vote together exceeded by 3,092 that cast for Wilson.

While the Republicans contend the greater part of those who supported Roosevelt four years ago will swing to Hughes this year, the Democrats scoff at their claims. It was asserted at Democratic state headquarters that a careful canvass of every county indicates serious inroads will be made by President Wilson on the normal Republican pluralities, up-state, and that the Democratic plurality in Greater New York will more than offset the Republican lead down to the Harlem river.

On the eve of tomorrow's election, the chairmen of both the Republican and Democratic state committees claim victory by at least 100,000.

NO SPECIAL EFFORT TO GET OUT BIG VOTE IN VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—With the exception of the Second, Fifth Seventh and Ninth districts, no particular effort has been made to get the voters to the polls tomorrow and Virginia is not expected to cast an unusually heavy vote. Chief interest throughout the state is in the Ninth, where C. Bascom Slemp, Republican incumbent, is opposed by E. Lee Trinkle, backed by the full power of the state organization. Secretary Brenaman, of the state Democratic committee, tonight predicted the election of Trinkle, but the Republicans assert that Representative Slemp will win. In the Seventh district, where Thomas W. Harrison, Democrat, and John Paul, Republican, are fighting for the seat made vacant by the resignation of James Hay, there has been a bitter recurrence of the old wet and dry fight and party alignment has been largely shattered. The Democrats claim that Harrison will win by a substantial majority, and the Republicans express confidence in the outcome.

INTEREST IN SOUTH CAROLINA CENTERS IN BOLTERS' VOTE.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 6.—With five electoral tickets in the field, but with the Democratic ticket virtually certain to win by a large majority, interest in South Carolina tonight centered in the size of the vote which the so-called bolters will cast against Governor Manning, the Democratic nominee for re-election. Though former Governor Blease has not announced himself as a candidate, tickets bearing his name instead of Governor Manning's with the rest of the Democratic ticket have been distributed. The Socialists and Progressives also have state tickets. All the Democratic nominees for Congress express themselves as certain of election.

EXTREMELY LARGE VOTE IN NORTH CAROLINA PROMISED

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6.—Indications are that there will be an extremely large vote polled tomorrow by both Democrats and Republicans. The Republicans concede the State ticket to the Democrats by reduced majorities, but the Democrats claim it by increased majorities. It appears that it will be Democratic by about 40,000 for T. W. Bickett for governor and for President Wilson.

The big fight is in the Tenth district for Congress. The Republican incumbent, J. J. Britt, is opposed by Zebulon Weaver, and the result is in doubt, with both sides claiming victory. The Republicans express hope of carrying the Fifth and Eighth districts, but this seems improbable. The reports indicate both houses of the General Assembly overwhelmingly Democratic.

I. W. W. OFFICIAL BLAMES IT ON "VIGILANCE COMMITTEE."

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Herbert L. Mahler, secretary-treasurer of the Seattle headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World, today gave the following signed statement to the Associated Press concerning Sunday's riot at Everett:

"We are going to charge every one of the vigilance committee at Everett with murder, and if possible bring a similar charge against every member of the Everett Commercial Club, on the ground that they organized a band of man-handlers and instructed them what to do. We have eye witnesses of Sunday's clash, from among the men on shore as well as those in the boat, by whom we can prove that the first shot was fired by the vigilance committee. This fight, really, is a part of the open-shop campaign waged by the manufacturers' associations all along the Pacific coast.

(Signed) "HERBERT L. MAHLER."

Efforts to induce Frank P. Walsh, former chairman of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission, to take charge of the defense of the Industrial Workers of the World in jail here are being made by William D. Haywood, general secretary-treasurer of the organization, according to a telegram received today by Mahler from Mr. Haywood, who is in Chicago.

VOTE OF WOMEN MAY PROVE DECIDING FACTOR IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Republican and Democratic campaign managers each claimed Illinois by 150,000 on the eve of election tonight.

After receiving final reports from every county in the state, both Fred E. Sterling, Republican state chairman, and Arthur W. Charles, Democratic state chairman, announced they were more confident than ever of success. It is estimated there are 1,800,000 voters in Illinois, of which about 600,000 are women who will cast their first vote for president at tomorrow's election. Both the Republican and Democratic leaders claim a majority of the women's vote, which may be the deciding factor. In all, the polls taken by party organizations at least 30 per cent of the voters declined to say how they intended to vote, and each side claims a majority of this silent vote.

Chicago has 808,119 voters registered, 504,481 men and 303,698 women, and party leaders admit that the presidential candidate who carries the city by a large plurality is almost certain to sweep the state.

Republican managers claim Chicago by 55,000, while the Democratic leaders expect to carry the city by 75,000. The normal Republican plurality in the state is between 75,000 and 150,000.

BOTH SIDES IN INDIANA CLAIM BIG MAJORITIES

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—The last word in one of the most strenuous campaigns in the history of Indiana was sai dtonight, and all over the State leaders in various parts prepared to devote their energies tomorrow to getting out the vote. Leaders of the two major parties reliterated their opinions that their respective parties wi.. carry Indiana for president, and both United States senators. There is keen interest in the election of 13 representatives. In 1912 the Democrats elected all 13 from Indiana, but to 1914 the Republicans elected two. In the Fifth district, Eugene V. Debs is the Socialist candidate and his supporters predict his election.

Vice President Marshall and Charles W. Fairbanks, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, will receive the returns at their respective homes tomorrow night.

The Prohibitionists expect to poll a heavier vote than ever before in the state, leaders in that party said tonight.

BOTH SIDES CLAIMING GOOD MAJORITIES IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6. — With both Democratic and Republican state chairmen professing entire confidence in the outcome of the election tomorrow, the New Jersey state campaign ended late tonight. Walter E. Edge, Republican candidate for governor, and R. Otto Wittpenn, his Democratic opponent, did not make their final speeches until nearly midnight.

Republicans predict that the National and state tickets will carry the state by at least 45,000, while Democrats declared Wittpenn would be elected by at least 15,000, and that President Wilson's margin of victory would be larger than that.

Besides a governor and United States senator, there will be elected 12 congressmen.

GOVERNMENT AGENTS WATCH PRECINCTS IN W. VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6. — In an effort to secure an honest election, representatives of the Department of Justice have been assigned for duty at various voting precincts in counties in southern West Virginia tomorrow, according to an announcement made here tonight by W. J. Barnhardt, United States district attorney. Political leaders predict that the heaviest vote ever polled in West Virginia will be cast. Joseph H. Gaines, Republican, and Clem Shaver, Democratic state chairman, reiterated their statements tonight that their parties would carry the state, the former claiming a plurality of 20,000 and the latter from 22,000 to 25,000.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS WATCH EACH OTER IN OHIO TODAY

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6.—On the eve of election day, which marks the close of one of the hottest presidential campaigns ever waged in Ohio, both Republican and Democratic campaign managers issued statements declaring that they are going t owatch each other for illegal voting tomorrow.

No new predictions as to the outcome in Ohio were made today, the Democratic managers standing by their prediction of 100,000 plurality for Wilson and the Republican leaders claiming with equal confidence a Republican victory by "from 60,000 to 100,000."

PROHIBITION ELECTION IN MICHIGAN CENTER OF INTEREST

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6.—Preparations were completed tonight to handle and safeguard the election in Michigan tomorrow, which is expected to bring out the heaviest vote in the state's history. The fight to make Michigan dry by a constitutional amendment and the counter contest to let each community regulate its liquor traffic under an amendment providing for home rule, overshadowed even the presidential struggle. Dry and wet forces were each claiming victory. If both amendments are adopted, the home rule law can be made effective first, say state officials.

Republican and Democratic state leaders reiterated previous claims that their presidential candidate would carry Michigan.

TREMENDOUS VOTE EXPECTED IN CALIFORNIA ELECTIONS

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Indications were apparent today of a tremendous vote through California toomrrow, according to political leaders. Issues which seemed to outline themselves most sharply on the eve of the election were Hughes or Wilson, wet or dry, and Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Republican, or George H. Hatton, Democrat, for the United States Senate.

The headquarters of the prohibition forces here predicted a landslide for amendment No. 2, restricting the sale of liquor in public drinking places and retail stores, and a winning vote of

BAD DREAMS ARE BYGONES FOR HER, THANKS TO TANLAC

Mrs. T. E. Hearn Says: "I Can Eat Anything Now---do Much More Work---Nervousness Is Gone and I Sleep Fine Every Night. Is Much Stronger."

"I recommend Tanlac," said Mrs. T. E. Hearn, "because it has helped me more than anything I have ever taken.

"Nervous indigestion claimed me a victim for over two years. Daily, and almost after each meal—especially supper—I suffered from attacks of choking. Gas formed in my stomach. Nothing I tried offered relief. If I would lie down under such conditions I couldn't get my breath. My nerves were unstrung and caused me to become easily excited. My sleep was broken and many a night I would remain wide awake until daybreak. If I slept I suffered from bad dreams.

"Then I saw Tanlac advertised, and after having taken it for but a few days my appetite showed improvement. I find that I can eat any kinds of vegetables or any foods now without any after pains or distress. I am much stronger than before, and can do so much more work. I am not nervous, either, and can sleep fine every night." (Statement given July 26, '16.).

Genuine Tanlac is sold in Wilmington exclusively at the Bellamy Drug Store, where its merits are explained daily to health seekers by the Tanlac Man; Acme, Acme Store Co.; Burgaw, C. L. Halstead; Southport, Watson's Pharmacy; Rocky Point, A. N. Rhodes & Co.; Supply, G. W. Kirby; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co.; Magnolia, W. L. Southall; Faison, Faison Drug Co.; Pembroke, G. W. Locklear; Snow Hill, J. T. H. Harper; Vineland, R. B. McRoy & Co.; Whiteville, J. A. McNeil & Son; Verona, G. W. Humphrey. Each town has its Tanlac dealer.—adv.

500,000 for complete prohibition, in a statement given out today.

Both Republicans and Democrats are claiming the sttae.

BOTH CLAIM CONNECTICUTT AND BY WIDE MARGINS

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—With their final appeals made to Sonnecticut voters, Republican and Democratic managers tonight reiterated their claims of victory tomorrow by wide margins. Republican leaders assert that 95 per cent of the Progressives of four years ago have returned to the fold, but the Democrats dispute this. The Progressive vote in 1912 was 34,-122

DETECTIVES TO WATCH THE POLLS IN WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6. — Fifteen men from a detective agency arrived in Martinsburg tonight to watch the polls tomorrow. They will be paid from a fund raised by local citizens who formed an organization to secure clean politics in Berkley county, after a judge in instructing a grand jury here recently had criticised political conditions in the county and declared that the votes of a large percentage of the citizens could be purchased.

PARTY LINES IN LOWA ARE LARGELY ERASED.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6.—Final predictions of the outcome of the general election in Iowa were issued tonight at state headquarters by Republican and Democratic state chairmen, the Republicans claiming 40,000 for Hughes, while the Democrats predicted a plurality f 30,000 for Wilson.

While supporters of W. L. Harding, Republican candidate for governor, predicted his election over E. T. Meredith, Democratic candidate, party lines had been so far erased by factional "wet and dry" controversies as to make the plurality forecasts of the two parties largely guess work, it was said.

Intense interest in the state campaign, it was expected, would bring out a heavy vote.

CLOSE CONTEST IN WISCONSIN BETWEEN WILSON AND HUGHES

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6. — A heavy vote with a close contest between Wilson and Hughes is looked for in Wisconsin tomorrow. Republicans tonight claimed LaFollette would be re-elected to the Senate and E. L. Philipp would be chosen for governor, but Democrats said Wilson's strength would carry both state and national tickets for them. Socialists expect to elect two representatives in the Milwaukee district.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT O F FOUR MARYLAND DISTRICTS

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6. — Democratic and Republican state chairmen tonight claimed Maryland for the respective heads of the national ticket and the candidate for the United States senate. While the Democrats expressed confidence that they would elect congressmen from four districts and placed the other two in the doubtful column, the Republicans said there was a good chance for them to at least divide the congressional delegation. The Prohibition question will be voted on in the remaining eleven "wet" units in the state, including the cities of Baltimore, Annapolis, Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick and Havre de Grace.

"WETS" AND "DRYS" EQUALLY CONFIDENT IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 6. — The "wets" and "drys" ended their vigorous campaign tonight with both equally confident of victory. Republican leaders claim the state by a majority of 10,000 o 20,000, while the Democrats claim the state for Wilson with a lead of 25,000. Interest in the United States senatorial race is keen with both candidates, Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock and John L. Kennedy, confident of success.

ONE JOCKEY KILLED AND TWO SERIOUSLY INJURED ON TRACK

Baltimore, Nov. 6.—One jockey was killed and two others were seriously injured at Pimlico race track today. Harry Tanzey, 23 years old, Brooklyn, N Y., fell with his mount in the second steeplechase race and was killed. A little later "Tom" Parette had his ribs and wrist broken by a fall.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE PAYING MORE ATTENTION TO WILSON

Trying "to Shell the Live Ones Instead of Dead Ones."

Pittsburg, Nov. 6.—Allan L. Benson, Socialist candidate for President, closed his campaign with a speech here tonight after a tour through the country which lasted 72 days. He criticised both candidates for President of the Republican and Democratic parties, but added:

"I am paying more attention to President Wilson because I am trying to shell the live ones rather than the dead ones. The chief difference I have found between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes, is that Hughes lacks brains. Wilson is alert with his political sagacity and foresight."

SERVED WITH WARRANT, R. C. ADDISON COMMITS SUICIDE

He and Brother Charged With Complicity in Bank Robbery.

Punta Gorda, Fla., Nov. 6. — R. C. Addison, local agent for a refining company, this afternoon shot and killed himself shortly after he and his brother, Locke Addison, had been served with warrants charging complicity in the robbery September 15 last of the Bank of Homestead, Fla., a state institution.

Three possemen and two of the four men accused of committing the robbery were shot to death in a two weeks' chase through the Florida Everglades. The other two accused men surrendered.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 6.—Old fashioned rallies closed the campaign in Minnesota tonight and both Democratic and Republican leaders reiterated predictions of victory for their tickets in this state.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 7. — While the 'Varsity football team is facing a schedule for the remainder of the season that will tax the team to the utmost, a series of games have been arranged for the scrub eleven that will keep the second string men busy fighting from next Saturday through Thanksgiving. Two games have been definitely arranged, the first on the approaching Saturday with the A. and M. scrub artists in Wake Forest. The second game will be played in Wilmington on Thanksgiving Day with the Fort Caswell football eleven.

THEATRICAL

Today at the Royal will be presented one of the most vital problem dramas that has been filmed within the past two years, a marvelous production by the Ivan Film Features, entitled "The Immortal Flame" and starring the greatest assemblage of dramatic talent ever seen in a photoplay of equal length anywhere, headed by that celebrated dramatic artiste, Maude Fealy, supported by Paula Shay, the Mary Garden of the Screen, and a great Broadway cast, including James Cooley, Edna Luby and Willard Case.

"The Immortal Flame" is a five-act screen epic written and directed by Ivan Abramson, "Filmdom's Master Craftsman," and has as its theme "The love that rules without a sword—the love that binds without a cord."

"Love can neither be bought nor sold—the only price of life—is love," shows this vital photoplay of heart throbs and pathos, in which the various artists have cast restraint aside and acted each scene with a feverish intensity.

Maude Fealey, playing a woman who enters into a loveless marriage in order to further the political ambitions of her father, is far and away the most striking character seen on any screen recently. Profiting by a long screen experience Miss Fealy acts every scene for all it is worth, and in the last reel gives an astounding exhibition of physical daring, when, lightly clad, she wanders out on snow-covered Riverside Drive and enters the waters of the Hudson river. The picture closes with a glimpse of her body floating on the tide.

Booked at a heavy expense as an extraordinary feature the Royal will trust to extraordinary good crowds, and will not increase the price of this attraction.

Election Day at Victoria.

Reilly's Famous Globe Trotters captivated large audiences yesterday and from every standpoint all promises made in advance regarding this show have already been more than fulfilled. The company, consisting of 13 seasoned artists made the biggest musical noise that has ever been heard on the Victoria stage, and the chorus immediately strikes one as being the best trained that has been seen in Wilmington this season, possessed of real good voices that filled the theatre easily even to the very back.

MAUDE FEALY

Embodying the spirit of youth, beauty and innocence, inspired with artistic genius, in the sensational production "The Immortal Flame" at the Grand today.

The Empire Quartette, made famous by two or three years' continuous time on the big circuits, more than fulfilled all expectations, although Mr. Linwood was suffering with a cold. They were continually encored until almost exhausted, answering five different calls, presenting harmony singing as Victoria audieces have never before enjoyed.

Harold Paite, bass soloist, presented one of the most novel and unique specialties of the performance, and has a voice of remarkable depth. Ernest Linwood, in the blackface comedy role, put over his stuff in a manner that was entirely new and novel, and seems a natural comedian with oodles of impromptu stuff which he puts over in grand style. He is an old favorite who has been seen in Wilmington before. Fred Kramer in the other comedy role was fully satisfying and brought many laughs.

The chorus was the best dressed seen this season with several novel costume numbers that were very enjoyable, and last night's capacity crowd seemed to have enjoyed the show better than any so far this season. This bill goes on for the last times today and tonight.

All-Feature Day at Bijou.

It is an all-feature day at the Bijou today, full of startling and brilliant film features, each one of which will appeal universally to every patron of the show—this is guaranteed.

The head-liner is the second great episode of that stirring Kalem series, "Grant Police Reporter," entitled "The Missing Heiress," in which George Larkin, the dare-devil of the films, remembered by his startling performance opposite Cleo Madison in "The Trey O' Hearts," does spectacular and thrilling work, opposite the beautiful Kalem actress, Ollie Kirby. This serial is packed the fullest of action that any single reel series that has ever been shown in Wilmington, and last Tuesday it absolutely made a bigger hit than the final thrilling chapter of "Peg O' the Ring". That's some indication of just how thrilling and spectacular it is.

Another great feature today—a two-reeler—is Essanay's feature "Borrowed Sunshine," starring those great film favorites, Marguerite Clayton, the little blonde beauty, with Richard Travers, also pretty little Mary McAllister, a new child actress. This two-reel subject is full of the kind of heart interest that almost every one will delight in, and is full of quaint and pleasing touches all the way through.

Then comes stil a third great feature, a single reeler. "Trouble for Four," a rousing Vitagraph comedy screen with inimitable Hugie Mack in the lead.

"Daughter of the Woods"—Grand.

The General Film Programme has never released a subject that will give more universal satisfaction, and packed in more solid enjoyment into three-quarters of an hour of your time than today's great head-liner at the Grand, a magnificent three-reel Knickerbocker Star Feature, "A Daughter of the Woods," starring beautiful Jackie Saunders in the leading role, a production of beautiful photography from the great Balboa studios who made "The Grip of Evil," and many other great photoplays.

The beautiful little blonde actress, Jackie Saunders, never had a part that fit her to such perfection as the leading role in this beautiful story of heart throbs, and she is surrounded by a cast of players that go to make of this a superb feature, one well qualified to grace any photoplay theatre programme.

"A Daughter of the Woods," is in three reels and is all excitement, a beautiful story, beautifully told. It is the kind that mother and the kiddies like, and also will appeal to everyone who has a warm heart throbbing in their breast. It is staged amid some of the most beautiful and elaborate out-door backgrounds ever seen on the screen.

Besides this great feature, there will be a mammoth Vitagraph comedy scream, to round out today's big five-cent bill.

94 NORTH CAROLINA COUNTIES REPRESENTED AT UNIVERSITY

Wake Leads With 57 Students—New Hanover Has 17.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 6.—Statistics of registration at the University of North Carolina for the current session, just made available through the registrar's report, show that the student body this year is one truly representative of all the elements that go to make up North Carolina life. More than 92 per cent of the student body this year comes from the State of North Carolina, while only 7.3 per cent comes from other states.

Out of the 100 counties, 94 are represented by students here, only Avery, Clay, Dare, Graham, Stokes and Swain being without any. The counties which send ten or more students to the University are ranked as follows, according to numbers here: Wake 57; Guilford 46; Orange 44; Buncombe 38; Mecklenburg 38; Wayne 35; Forsyth 31; Alamance 27; Iredell 22; Robeson 22; Rowan 21; Durham 20; Edgecombe 20; Burke 18; Craven 17; Halifax 17; New Hanover 17; Surry 17; Davidson 16; Gaston 10; Lenoir 16; Union 16; Granville 15; Wilson 15; Caldwell 14; Duplin 14; Johnston 14; Carteret 13; Cleveland 13; Pitt 13; Beaufort 11; Cumberland 11; Sampson 11; Warren 11; Chatham 10; Rockingham 10; and Wilkes 10.

The total registration on November 1 was 1,259, or 63 more than at the same time last year, and over 50 per cent more than in 1912—four years ago.

THIS REPUBLICAN IS SOUTHERN MAN WITH SOUTHERN SYMPATHIES

Therefore He Is Supporting President Wilson Unequivocally.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 6.—There is consternation in the local Republican ranks today as the result of an announcement by Albert Miller, prominent and for 40 years a staunch Republican, that he has transferred his allegiance unequivocally to Wilson and the Democratic ticket. Mr. Miller gave as his reasons for a change of faith that he is "a Southern man with Southern sympathies, and that the President has done more for the South than any other President, Democrat or Republican; that he has done more for the masses of the people of the United States than any other president of modern times." Miller cites the rural credits bill and the federal reserve act as particular specimens of Wilson's interest in the plain people of the nation. Since his majority Mr. Miller has been active in leadership in the Republican party and held office for many years under the G. O. P. regime. He was postmaster at a rural office under Garfield and afterwards at La Grange. He was onee coroner of Lenoir county, and has held several small offices. He is the second influential Republican in the county to turn to Democracy in 10 days. Frank Liles, a former power in Edgecombe, now living here, having changed late in October.

FOREIGN TRADE OF COUNTRY DOUBLED IN JUST TWO YEARS

One-fifth of the Entire International Trade of the World.

New York, Nov. 6.—The foreign trade of the United States for the calendar year of 1916 will approximate the sum of $8,000,000,000 or about one-fifth of the entire international trade of the world, according to estimates made public here today by the foreign trade department of the National City Bank.

It will be 50 per cent greater than in 1915 and double that of 1914. Excess of exports over imports will approximate $3,000,000,000 against $1,763,884,000 in 1915, $324,348,000 in 1914, and $691,422,000 in 1913.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Senator Walsh, manager of Western Democratic National headquarters, today received a number of telegrams from Democratic leaders in Western states, predicting success for Wilson and Marshall, at tomorrow's election.

How to Heal Skin-Diseases

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Almost any soap will clean the skin and hair. But those who want a soap which not only cleanses but actually helps the complexion and hair are wise to choose resinol soap.

MR GRANT STARS IN ONSLOW

New Hanover Man Meets John Fowler in Political Combat at Snead's Ferry and Makes Hit

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Jacksonville, N. C., Nov. 6.—If the writer may elect himself a judge in the matter and substantiate his belief by the opinion of the two hundred and fifty other voters who heard L. Clayton Grant, of Wilmington, address the voters at Sneads Ferry ,this county, Saturday night, then New Hanover county's next representative is destined to be one of North Carolina's greatest orators and admired officials. John Fowler, a Republican spellbinder of Sampson, and elector, had hit a back trail into the lower part of the county and it was up to the Democrats to meet this gentleman.

No better man could have been secured. If there was an ounce of argument that was not met, weighed and found wanting in the Sampsonian's speech, then the applause of the crowd present signified nothing. Every point was taken up by Mr. Grant and received sarcasm and criticism from which the Republican turned and twisted while the crowd yelled "pour it in him."

The audience, first believed to be at least 50 per cent Republican, soon turned to a 75 per cent Democratic and confusion broke loose when the gentleman from New Hanover claimed that the white host of North Carolina would again return the Democratic party to power by a record majority, and that Wall Street with its vast sums of money and corrupt work cannot turn the tide from Wilson. Grant was known only by a few when he began his speech, but you may ask any man at Snead's Ferry who Clayton Grant is, and he will at once tell you, one of the best speakers that has ever entered the county.

These things are written because they are true and because it would not be fair to Mr. Grant not to write them. It may be said that when Grant assailed Fowler he (Fowler) had previously been warmed to a pitch by a meeting with J. Frank Wooten, Onslow's war-horse, at Folkstone, in the afternoon. From reports, Mr. Wooten protected Democracy from the assaults of Fowler in an able manner and gained votes for his party. Mr. Wooten's speeches in Stump Sound township during this campaign have evoked especial mention, and many voters have been led to ese the right way by reason of his speeches. M. M .C.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1916.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

When moral courage feels that it is in the right, there is no personal daring of which it is incapable.
—LEIGH HUNT.

This is Democratic Tuesday.

We don't need Hughes and Rooseveltism.

It will be all over by night but the counting and the shouting.

We don't care to go to war and we don't care for it to come to us.

The man who won't stand for the right doesn't count for much here below.

Good-bye, you dirty old campaign. Take Judge Hughes with you. He started it all.

If you have a good conscience, follow its dictates today and you'll hardly have cause to regret it.

About six months ago you had a chance to buy up all the shoes in America and wait for a rise. Why didn't yuh do it?

If we had bought 25,000,000 bushels of wheat early in the year, we would now be worth nearly $50,000,000. We never thought about buying all the wheat we wanted till it was too late to bother about it.

Roosevelt says Wilson is responsible for the loss of American lives. Roosevelt is responsible for what is going to happen to Judge Hughes today. In a general way, Teddy is irresponsible and is liable to cause the loss of thousands of American lives.

Look out for the eleventh-hour canard today. Gompers has warned the forces of organized labor that one is being prepared. Democrats everywhere should be on their guard. If the canard fails to arrive, all well, but it's better not to be taken by surprise.

This is the last day that offers good men the opportunity to do eternal justice to Wilson for what he has done for the people and this country. There are men who can be depended upon to do justice, but there are others who would not know justice if they met it in the road.

The Corn Show opens today at the Tabernacle on Castle street. Be sure to attend some time today or tonight. The fair will continue for four days, and there should be a record attendance. That has been the rule at fairs everywhere. Atlanta's great Southeastern fair netted $20,000, and it will be used for a bigger fair next fall. Our Corn Show will be the best of the four held so far and we must make it greater every year. It is up to us.

The Hon. John M. Parker, Progressive candidate for vice president, who has been campaigning in the Middle West, telegraphs his congratulations to President Wilson in advance of his election. "The elements of a landslide are appearing" throughout the West, Colonel Parker said in his message. He declares that Wilson is sure of a heavy Progressive vote and that he will easily carry Michigan and other states generally Republican.

On the eve of the Chicago convention, Colonel Roosevelt said: "It would be a mistake to nominate me unless the country has in its mood something of the heroic." Teddy must have been imagining that he would do something awful if he got to be president and that it would take a heroic country to back up the roughness that it might expect under his administration. During the campaign the heroic Teddy has backed up Hughes, and if Hughes should be elected today, he can expect to have trouble with a hero. That is, unless Hughes does "something of the heroic."

REPUBLICANISM LOOKS CURIOUS TO OTHER NATIONS

Lord Chesterton, of England, has just sent to press a work in which he discusses the relations of the United States and Great Britain. He says that Americans do not understand the British.

As a matter of fact, Americans do not understand each other, much less other people in the world. Americans mistrust each other, for some reason or other, so Lord Chesterton need not worry because they mistrust foreigners of all kinds. Americans talk so much about foreign competition and "Europe's pauper labor" that there is no wonder that America has few friends anywhere in the world.

Th system of politics in America keeps alive and creates prejudice against all other nations in the world. The Republicans are always talking about building up foreign trade for this country, but they have always done the very thing that prevents the rightful growth of our foreign trade. Mutual trade depends upon the exchange of commercial commodities, but the Republican idea of trade is that it is a good policy to shut out trade from foreign countries by a tariff wall which compels Americans to live on each other. They are willing for Europe to buy from America but they are not willing for America to buy from Europe. It prevents a free exchange of comomdities and confines other nations to buying from us.

The result is that they buy from us only what they can't get elsewhere, and so it is that the bulk of our export trade consists of raw cotton, wheat and foodstuffs. They would not buy those if they could buy elsewhere, and it is a fact that Europe has been endeavoring all the time to make herself independent of us. Take cotton, for instance. European spinners have sought in every way to develop the production of cotton in Asia and Africa, so they would no longer have to buy from a nation which buys as little as possible from them. If they succeed in shutting out our export trade with them, how much foreign trade would we have?

Nevertheless, Republicans talk about building up an Aemrican merchant marine, but under their tariff system we could send our ships with cotton and wheat, but owing to our embargo on imports, American ships would have to come back empty. That would not be very profitable for ship owners, so there is no wonder that Republicans can see no other way of building up a merchant marine than by making the American people pay for a shipping business that would not pay for itself. Hence, Republicans favor a subsidy for American ships, and a subsidy would mean that the American people would have to pay for the maintenance of American shipping, just as they are exploited for the maintenance of American industries.

Probably that looks like a queer economic idea to Lord Chesterton, but that kind of a stunt has been pulled off in this country for the last fifty years. The Republicans now want to get back into power so they can tax the people in order to prevent the cripples of Europe from dumping their manufactures on this country and thus overwhelm American industries, as alleged. It is altogether a funny idea that after American industries have had protection for fifty years they are afraid that a crippled Europe can come over here and put them all out of business. However, if it requires a high tariff to keep Europe from gobbling up our own markets, how can we go out into the world and compete with them for the trade of other countries?

The Republican plan to do that is to sell American manufactures abroad at less than it costs the factories to make them, then make up for the loss by taxing the American people. The more foreign trade we could get by selling below cost, the greater would be the tax on the American consumers. That kind of trade would be a fine thing for manufacturers, but it would be a losing trade for the people.

The people are asked to put that kind of party back in power in the name of Americanism and prosperity, but we have often wondered why we have had much prosperity under Republican administrations, except for the fact that a country, with such great resources as this, ordinarily prospers in spite of the Republican party, or any other party, for that matter.

CANARD FROM THE DEPTHS NAILED

The Republican campaign against Wilson has been characterized by the slogan, "Anything to beat Wilson." It has been clearly evident during the latter part of the campaign that the word "anything" means anything, no matter how little, or how low, or how false. Indeed, the Republicans have become desperate, and when an individual or a party reaches the point of desperation, especially if that party or individual be devoid of principle, there is no telling what means may be employed to achieve the desired ends.

Recently, when the national campaign had reached its height and Hughes had failed to arouse the enthusiasm his supporters had expected, some of the Republican politicians went to digging for something against Wilson's private and personal life. They "dug up something" and evidently rolled it under their serpentine tongues as a sweet morsel. Slander tastes mighty good to some mouths, you know, and they had something they knew Wilson could not afford to stoop to answer. Nevertheless, they couldn't use it to any great advantage, for all self-respecting newspapers refused to print it. Some of the Hughes papers went so far as to send men to the scene to investigate and get the facts, but, of course, they never published the facts. The facts killed a good Republican story.

The thing they dug up and which a number of politicians with no reputation to lose spread about the country, and which Tom Watson was probably the only American editor to publish, was this, to get which required no special effort: "The grave in Rome, Ga., of Mrs. Ellen Axson Wilson, first wife of the President, has no monument at its head." This was the fact upon which certain Republican politicians, supporters of Hughes, ghoulishly commented. But it was only half a truth, which in this case was the worst kind of lie.

William Randolph Hearst, through his great string of American newspapers, which never have had much reputation for being scrupulous, has been bitterly fighting Wilson through this campaign, and yet, remarkable as it may seem, it was one of Hearst's papers, the Sunday American, that went to the trouble to make a thorough investigation of the matter and make all the facts known to the world. That paper sent a member of its staff, Dudley Glass, to Rome, Ga., to investigate. After visiting the cemetery, interviewing city officials, the cemetery sexton, representative citizens, men and women of Rome, all of whom spoke with indignation of such scandalous talk being lugged into the campaign, Mr. Glass established beyond any question these facts: That the President, a good while ago, selected a sculptor to design a monument for his first wife's grave; that he took a deep interest in choosing a memorial entirely suitable, that the sculptor has been to Rome to view the lot, that an engineer has made a plat of it for the sculptor's use, that the President has all along frequently sent flowers to be placed on the grave, and that the time that has elapsed since the death of his first wife is not unusual in cases where an expensive memorial of particular material and design is erected, to say nothing of the fact that Italian sculpture was desired at a time when the war made it difficult to get it. The unanimous verdict of the people of Rome was that the insinuation that Mr. Wilson had neglected his deceased wife's grave was not only a lie but an outrage to decency.

The Star's only reason for mentioning such a matter at all is to show to what depths Hughes supporters are stooping to slander a good man in their desperate efforts to defeat him for the presidency. They not only spread a falsehood, but select the kind of lie that they know he cannot afford to take cognizance of and answer it in his campaign speeches or otherwise.

Men of the South, the land of traditional honor, justice and gallantry, men with red American blood in your veins, men who have some decency and self-respect left in you, will you line up today with these ghouls and cast your vote with those who resort to the devilish, indecent methods of two-legged hyenas to defeat the man in whose life they cannot find a blemish and who has gone through fire, as it were, to save his countrymen from disaster? Will you by your ballot today endorse the action of these scoundrels whose efforts to defeat Wilson are so "low down" that even a Hearst paper feels called upon to defend the man its owner is fighting?

UNDER WHICH FLAG TODAY?

The people of the United States will elect a president today. The man chosen will be one who stands for the people or a man for whom Wall Street stands. The next president will be either Wilson, Democrat, or Hughes, Republican. Which shall it be? North Carolina will have to make a choice, for it is our great privilege to help to elect the chief executive of the greatest nation on earth. The fight will be decided today, and the question for us is, under which flag will we stand? Each voter will answer for himself, so a correspondent of the New York World furnishes the following questions for the line-up:

Wall Street is against Wilson. Who is for him?

Monopoly is against Wilson. Who is for him?

Greed is against Wilson. Who is for him?

The "sables and emeralds" vote is against Wilson. Who is for him?

The enemies of the eight-hour day are against Wilson. Who are for him?

Peace, prosperity, preparedness, and Wilson are synonymous terms. Who is opposed?

The enemies of child-labor legislation are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The enemies of a National mercantile marine are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The enemies of the Federal Reserve Banking system are against Wilson. Who are for him?

All disloyal Americans are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The enemies of civil and religious liberty in Mexico are against Wilson. Who are for him?

Those who would deny the Mexican people the right to fight out their own salvation that we demanded for ourselves in our Revolutionary and Civil Wars, are against Wilson. Who are for him?

Monopoly, power, privilege and greed, which oppose Wilson's demand for a square deal for the Mexican people, are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The enemies of the rural (farmers') credit system are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The advocates of a prohibitory tariff, which would shackle American manufacturers, labor and commerce, are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The national lobby is against Wilson. Who is for him?

The enemies of Wilson would tax poverty. Wilson has taxed Wealth.

Wilson's motto: Tax wealth, not poverty.

Wilson's creed: For the people every time, as opposed to Wall Street, monopoly, power, privilege, and greed.

The Republican corner-stones: Wall Street, monopoly, greed, special privilege, power, reaction, Torylism, war.

The advocates of war are against Wilson. Who are for him?

The advocates of peace are for Wilson. Who are against him?

Let well enough alone!

Don't swap horses while crossing a stream!

Special privilege is against Wilson. Who is for him?

Power is against Wilson. Who is for him?

Before the Chicago convention met, the nabobs of Wall Street gave a dinner to Roosevelt to arrange things for Hughes and later entertained Hughes, Roosevelt and Taft at a reception notable for its get-together spirit. Roosevelt and Taft shook hands, and Wall Street agreed to shake the bag for the campaign shekles. That is an open and shut game, but some men in North Carolina don't seem to know when the cards are being stacked against the people.

John Robinson's circus will be in town today, and tomorrow comes the National election, but don't forget that the Corn Show opens in Wilmington tomorrow. The Corn Show ought to draw a big crowd on the opening day in order to set the pace for the four days of the show. We surely ought to have enough scope to us to take in a circus, an election and a four days exhibit of the resources of Eastern North Carolina.

THE FOUR AMENDMENTS.

Max Gardner Endorses Them and Explains Their Provisions.

Of the three co-ordinate branches of government in North Carolina the Legislative branch is properly given precedence over the executive and judicial, both of which, in a large degree, are dependent upon the initiative and efficiency of the law-making body.

The Executive department may administer only such laws as the Legislature sees fit to enact and the power of the Judiciary is in like manner limited by its mandates.

The Legislature is the main-spring of governmental machinery and upon its efficiency depends the progress and development of the State.

This body charged as it is with this important function, and realizing, as must all thoughtful men, that under its present handicap, it is not rendering the high service to which the people are entitled, has asked on two occasions, and in no uncertain tones, that it be relieved of the duty of giving time and attention to the consideration of local and private bills, so that it may devote its energies and thought to matters of State-wide interest and concern.

At an expense of some $50,000 it has submitted to the people, with its almost unanimous endorsement, four amendments to the Constitution which are designed and intended to free the Legislature from the consideration of bills which have heretofore constituted 85 per cent of the volume of laws enacted.

These amendments briefly summarized are as follows:

1. To prohibit certain specified local and private legislation.

2. To prohibit special legislative charters to cities and towns.

3. To provide legislative charters for private corporations.

4. To provide for the appointment of emergency judges.

In place of the local laws now enacted for these purposes, general laws of State-wide application are provided for, which will guarantee all the rights of the people and give to them local self-government in county and municipal affairs. All private corporations will be placed on an equal basis and a method provided for the dispatch of the business of the courts by the appointment of emergency judges.

These progressive measures are intended to serve two general purposs:

1. To relieve the General Assembly of the necessity of passing thousands of laws in which only a small territory or a few persons are interested, and enable its members to devote their time and talents to the enactment of laws of State-wide application.

2. To provide by general laws for local self-government of counties and municipal home rule in cities and towns.

It is unfortunate that our speakers in the present campaign have given so little time to a discussion of these amendments, but they appear to have taken it for granted that all the people favored them, and devoted their time to a discussion of purely political questions.

Regardless of party affiliation, leading men of the State and most of the newspapers have endorsed these measures, and I earnestly hope that they will be adopted by a large majority at Tuesday's election. Their adoption will not only enlarge the usefulness and efficiency of the General Assembly, but will provide the way for the development of local initiative and a much greater share in home government and administration than can be obtaied under the present Constitution.

O. MAX GARDNER.
Shelby, N. C., Nov. 1, 1916.

THE EIGHT HOUR DAY

A. Sullivan, Lodge No. 555.

When you come to the end of an eight hour day,
And you sit at home with your wife,
And the new crew goes out with hearts that are gay,
For the victory won in the strife;
Can you think what the end of an eight hour day
Can mean to a railroad man,
When the law goes down on the statute books,
To remain there forever? "Amen;"
For Wilson has made it an eight hour day,
With his signature that he wrote,
And he will find at the end of election day,
Every railroad man had a vote.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The President may well upbraid the Republicans for making our foreign relations an issue of the campaign. It is sacrificing patriotism to partisanship. It was never done before, since the second term of George Washington, and the interests of the country demand that it be so completely voted down now that it will not be attempted again for another century.—Philadelphia Record.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot says: "William Allen White is quoted as saying that many Progressives are supporting Hughes in the belief that his election would wreck the Republican party. Verily, the consummation is one most devoutly to be wished, but why wreck the country to accomplish it?" We are ready to bet that the election of Hughes would be followed by the result the Progressives predict.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

At the last moment Nebraska has decided to vote for Wilson as it did in 1912. The Democrats say Wilson's majority in that state will be 20,000. The Republicans dispute this—but they say Wilson's majority will not be over 10,000. That is enough. The Nebraska farmers are tooth and toe nail for Wilson and $2 wheat, and the Republicans have given up the case as hopeless. Indeed, the situation as it has developed since the beginning of the past week is such as to warrant them in reviving their election tables, down, up and in the middle.—Charlotte Observer.

A great deal of fun has been had over note-writing, although we used to be fond of quoting, 'The pen is mightier than the sword.' But President Wilson has had just the tools he could use—his pen, with his brain behind it, or your life. That is all he had. He could send notes or he could send human lives. He had to use either the tools of diplomacy or he had to use American fathers and brothers and sons—of whom you likely would have been one. Now, aside from partisan preference, which would you prefer a President to risk first his pen or your life? President Wilson tried his pen first. If the pen had failed through any weakness in its handling, he would have had to fall back on the bodies of American men, offered as sacrifices on the altar of battle. But the notes did not fail, because they were not weak notes, and they were not written by a weak man.—Detroit News (Ind.)

$10,000 FIRE AT GOLDSBORO

Plant of Goldsboro Brick Company Totally Destroyed.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Nov. 6.—The plant of the Goldsboro Brick Co., owned by Major H. L. Grant & Son, was totally destroyed by fire today and nothing remains but the smouldering ruins of several dry kilns. The fire was first discovered by the night watchman this morning at 5 o'clock, but as the plant was outside the fire limit nothing could be done toward stopping the conflagration, which originated in the boiler room, other than save several mules and horses housed in stables near the scene.

Major Grant stated this morning that the loss would amount to $10,000 with only $2,500 insurance.

The one to feel the loss most keenly will be Mr. L. M. Grant, who has had charge of the management of the plant for several years, and only last week his father donated the entire busines to him as a gift, and some time during the next few weeks the new owner had intended moving the plant to a new field as he had consumed most of the clay available on the old site.

MOTHER LOVE AIDS SON IN TRENCHES

It Brings Relief to Boy Standing His Watch Deep in Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatic pains, he recalled the faith his mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the pain, once more he was able to stand the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle-soother with his comrades, and they all agreed it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their reague. THE STAGE IS SET FOR THE NATIONAL ELECTION

New Hanover Expected to Give Majority of 3,000 for Democrats.

Final Appeals to Voters Issued by Different Committees—Intense Interest Locally in Outcome of Battle of Ballots.

Polls open at 6:37 A. M.
Polls close at 5:14 P. M.

The stage has now been set for the National election and not since 1896 has there been so much interest manifested in its outcome by the American people. This is as true of Wilmington as of the remainder of the country and business will be practically at a standstill today while the battle of ballots is in progress.

Interest is centered in the presidential election and the latest information available seems to forecast the certain re-election of Woodrow Wilson. Local Democrats have taken on renewed courage with the receipt of news from the North, bringing the glad tidings that Wilson's strength continues to grow.

A majority of 50,000 for the Democrats in North Carolina is predicted by Chairman T. D. Warren, of the State Democratic Executive Committee, who last night wired Chairman T. E. Cooper, of the New Hanover Democratic Executive committee, as follows: "Wilson's election seems certain. North Carolina must give him 50,000 majority. See that every Democrat votes."

Of this majority for the State, New Hanover is expected to give 3,000. After a strenuous campaign of two months, the local headquarters of the Democratic party was closed last night. The local Democrats have become interested more than they have been in years and this county is expected to pile up a big vote today.

Vote early is the admonition of the Wilson Club of New Hanover, which has done such magnificent work in raising a fund of $5,000 for the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund. The club last night issued the following appeal to the voters of New Hanover:

"It is very important that all voters who desire the re-election of Woodrow Wilson vote early, and then make it a point to see that their friends vote.

"Be on your guard. Do not permit anyone to persuade you to cast your ballot against the man who, amid great difficulties, has preserved the integrity, the peace and the prosperity of our country.

"A vote for Wilson is a vote for humanity.

"Vote and work for his re-election."

DR. STUART TO LECTURE.

Well Known Evangelist Will Speak Tonight at Boys' Brigade Armory.

Rev. Dr. George R. Stuart, for many years one of the best known evangelists in the South, will deliver his famous lecture on "Lop-Sided Folks", at the Boys' Brigade armory tonight at 8 o'clock. Dr. Stuart is one of the best public speakers in the South today and those who hear him tonight will be well re-paid for their time and money.

Dr. Stuart is now pastor of one of the prominent Methodist churches in Birmingham, Ala., and comes to Wilmington under the auspices of the Epworth League of Fifth Avenue Methodist church. Noting the fact that Dr. Stuart was coming to Wilmington the Charlotte Observer in its editorial columns had the following:

"Rev. George Stuart, the evangelist, whose labors in Charlotte were marked with the most notable and lasting results of those of all the many evangelists who have visited this place, not excepting Sam Jones, is booked for a lecture in Wilmington, Tuesday night. Dr. Stuart has been for a long time pastor of a Methodist church in Birmingham. Charlotte has been waiting for many years to give him a welcome."

VOTE EARLY.

Don't fail to cast your ballot today. Vote early. Ask your neighbor if he has voted, and if he hasn't, see that he votes. Democracy expects her sons to do their duty today.

A substantial increase over the 1912 vote for Governor will give New Hanover county the handsome North Carolina silk flag, offered by the State Democratic Executive Committee. Will you help win the flag? The vote in 1912 was 1,990.

Democracy expects to make a record over the State today; help New Hanover county to hold up her end of the line.

Think of our unbounded prosperity; the peace of our country, and then remember that Democracy gave you these. Think of the constructive legislation of this administration. Do you want a continuance of it, or will you repudiate your party?

Vote today for the people's candidate for President, and the people's candidate for Governor, Woodrow Wilson and Thomas Walter Bickett.

Vote the straight ticket.

NEW HANOVER COUNTY DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

CAPACITY CROWDS SEE JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS

Big Show Gave Two Creditable Performances Yesterday.

Nelson Acrobats With Trained Animals Were the Biggest Attractions of the Circus—Immense Crowds Saw Parade.

That the lure of the sawdust arena, pink lemonade and blaring bands still has a grip on the hearts of Wilmington people, was proven by the throng of 12,000 people who filled the big tent of the John Robinson circus at both their two performances in this city yesterday afternoon and evening.

Furthermore, the crowds that attended were treated to a show that is somewhat above the ordinary circus in the quality of its performance. While as a rule it followed the time-honored general programme of similar attractions, a number of new stunts were staged, and all the old ones carried with them what is usually termed "the punch."

If any two acts predominated in popularity with the crowds, it was the whirlwind acrobatic stunts of the famous Nelson family, seven in number, and the ludicrous performances of the monkey cyclists. The Nelsons seemed to be as spineless as the proverbial jelly fish, and succeeded in tieing themselves in all manner or shapes, without actually forming a sailor's knot out of their bodies.

The act of the monkeys was a fine endorsement of Darwin's theory of the missing link, and had that distinguished gentleman seen these cousins of the human race in their stunts yesterday afternoon, he would have exclaimed, 'Eureka."

There are a lot of fellows who earn a living playing baseball that lack the skill in catching flies that was displayed by the troupe of performing seals, while many a man who is an expert at juggling fire water, would experience difficulty in playing with flaming firebrands in the way these animals did.

The parade yesterday morning was one of the biggest features of the day. Headed by four young women draped in all the glittering regalia of the King's Own Guards, and concluding with the ever present calliope, it wound through the principal streets of the city shortly before 11 o'clock. Part of the cages had been uncovered and the jungle kings were displayed restlessly pacing the narrow confines of their prison.

Crowds thronged the streets in the line of the parade long before the hour set for its appearance, and watched breathlessly from the time the first gally attired equestrienne came in view, until the last gaudy chariot had rolled out of sight.

The big menagerie was one of the principal features, and contained a big collection of beasts from the dainty, timid looking gazelles to the beautiful, restless tigers and hideous hyenas.

The much heralded staff of clowns failed to make good the wonderful abilities that has been claimed for them. One in the role of Charlie Chaplin did a few original stunts, but the work of the others was rather tame.

Among the other attractions under the main tent were the Kalamura and Uyeno troupes of Japanese acrobats, the Camille Trio of tight wire walkers, the Costellos and the Ollons riding acts, numerous trapeze performers, Madame Bedeni and her dancing pony; Mary Connors with her educated steed, and the unique football horse. The latter was some punter, too, and would be a valuable addition to some little fresh water football elevens. A dozen performing elephants added a touch of originality to the exhibition.

The side show carried the usual attractions, such as the Old Plantation show, the Oriental dance, etc.

CUTTER SEMINOLE ON LONG TRIP TO AID DISABLED STEAMER

Unknown Boat in Distress Off the East Coast of Florida.

Notified by wireless that an unknown steamer was in distress off the coast of Jupiter Inlet, near West Palm Beach, Fla., the coast guard cutter Seminole steamed from Wilmington at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bound for the rescue.

This destination is far out of the Seminole's territory, but in view of the fact that the Yamacraw, being away from its home station at Savannah, Ga., it became necessary for the local cutter to proceed to the scene of the trouble.

The message to Capt. Uberroth came shortly after noon yesterday, from the Treasury Department, at Washington. It did not state the damage done to the disabled vessel.

WHITAKER SENT TO CLINTON.

Will Stand Trial in Sampson County for Killing of Taliaferro.

Raymond Whitaker, the young white man who has been confined in the New Hanover jail since October 17th, was delivered by the local authorities yesterday to Deputy Sheriff Williams, of Sampson county, and carried to Clinton, where he will stand trial for the shooting of Mr. John D. Taliaferro, near Ivanhoe, on the morning of October 17th.

Whitaker was arrested in this city on the day of the shooting, and was lodged in jail pending the outcome of Mr. Taliaferro's wounds. The latter after apparently rallying from the effects of the shot suffered a relapse and died some ten days ago from complications resulting from his wounds.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Colored Crap Shooters Were the Principal Attractions Yesterday.

Six colored crap shooters constituted the main array of offenders in the Recorder's court yesterday morning. Of this number John H. Spencer and Pompay Pridgen were acquitted, John Covington got off by turning State's evidence against Bennie Robinson, who along with George Fears and John Fergusen, paid the costs, and James Purdy was not apprehended.

Jake and Harry Abelovitz, two young white boys, were discharged on a charge of larceny. George Fears, colored, paid the costs for firing a pistol in the city limits, and Will Dudley Robinson, another negro, drew $5 and costs for an assault on a female.

JURY LIST IS DRAWN FOR DECEMBER TERM

Commissioners Pass on Many Matters at Monthly Meeting.

Milk Station Appropriation, Additional Tax Collectors and Audit of County Books Are Also Authorized by the Board.

The making of an appropriation of $10 per month for the infant milk feeding station during the winter, the provision for additional assistance for the sheriff's office, the drawing of jurors for the December term of Superior court, the authorization of the annual audit of the county books, the direction of the road committee to investigate the necessity for installing a pumping engine at the county workhouse and the receipt of the monthly reports, constituted the main features of the regular monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners held yesterday afternoon at the court house. Present were: Chairman W. A. McGirt, who presided, and Commissioners W. D. MacMillan, Jr., Walter E. Yopp, and J. T. Kerr.

A communication from Dr. J. B. Sidbury to the board, asking its support by appropriation for the milk station was read by Chairman McGirt, who explained that at the last meeting of Council the city had appropriated the sum of $30 on the condition that the county make an appropriation on the same basis on which it co-operates with the city in the support of the Health Department. The appropriation of $10 by the county, he stated, represented its proportion. The milk station during the winter months, it was pointed out, will be operated by agencies outside the Health Department.

On the recommendation and approval of County Attorney Graham Kenan and County Auditor J. A. Orrell, additional assistance, as is customary, was allowed the sheriff's office for the collection of taxes as follows: One man for the collection of taxes in certain townships on a percentage basis, one man in the sheriff's office for five months at $90 per month, and one man for the collection of taxes in the city for 10 weeks at $2.50 per diem.

Among the other matters passed upon was the authorization of the road committee to investigate the water supply at the county workhouse and County Home. At present the water supply is pumped at the workhouse by use of a windmill which is not a satisfactory arrangement, and the board thought it would be better to install an engine which will pump an adequate supply for both institutions. Authority was also given for the renewal of the county's $10,000 note given for money used to complete the county workhouse. The monthly reports of the county auditor, superintendent of roads, standard keeper, superintendent of county home and workhouse, were all submitted and ordered filed.

May Buy Any Truck.

After considerable discussion a resolution passed by the board at a previous meeting authorizing the purchase of a White five-ton auto truck, was amended to read, "or other first-class truck." The chairman of the board and purchasing agent were given power to decide as to what make should be purchased. The board also authorized the chairman to make arrangements for the yearly audit of the financial books of the county and to secure the services of a competent auditor.

The report of Road Superintendent R. A. Burnett for October showed that members of Camp No. 2 at the Three-Mile-Post, on Scott's Hill road, have built 800 lineal yards of roadbed, overhauled two bridges at one of the creeks at the brick yard, and built a bridge on the Gordon road. It is also reported that gang No. 3 have been at work on the Middle Sound road, mending washouts on the Fort Fisher highway and is now painting the Northeast bridge. It is also stated in the report that the repair gang has been at work on the Scott's Hill, Gordon and Castle Haynes road and have dragged both the last named roads.

WILMINGTON CORN SHOW TO OPEN THIS MORNING

Mayor P. Q. Moore Will Make Address at Opening Exercises.

Big Array of Exhibits Collected in Tabernacle for Fourth Annual Fair —Many Visitors Expected—Election Returns.

Wilmington's Fourth Annual Corn Show, which will eclipse in many ways the former very successful ones, will be officially opened by Mayor P. Q. Moore with a short address at 10 o'clock this morning, and will be in progress at the big tabernacle on Castle street between Third and Fourth for four days, ending on Friday night.

The show will be open to the public each day from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m., and the general admission will be 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The main building of the Corn Show presents a most interesting and enchanting scene with its many beautifully decorated booths and large array of attractive farm exhibits from nine counties in Eastern North Carolina. The exhibitors have taken a great deal of interest in arranging their booths this year and it is altogether a pleasing show and a great credit to this city.

All Under One Roof.

The advantage in having all the general exhibits under one roof affords exhibitors a much better opportunity for their displays than at previous shows and gives to the event an air of permanency, which it is believed will be most attractive to the many out-of-town visitors expected here this week. All day yesterday several hundred people were busy at the tabernacle getting the show in readiness for the opening today. It will be Wilmington's most spectacular and interesting event of the season.

Farm exhibits came in gradually all day yesterday from the large territory covered by the fair and the attractive arrangement at the Corn Show to give each exhibit, no matter how small, a fine opportunity to be seen by all visitors, will prove of immense value in making this a most interesting and beautiful feature.

Many Visitors Expected.

From all indications and reports received at the headquarters of the Corn Show there will be several thousand visitors here this week. It is expected that many will come from a greater distance than the actual territory of the fair. The opening this morning will be attended by a large crowd of Wilmington people.

Tonight at the Corn Show a special leased wire service will furnish the election returns. A stereopticon will be used to show these returns in plain view of all patrons of the fair. This is one of the big events arranged for the week and it is expected that a large crowd from Wilmington and elsewhere will take advantage of the fine service provided for the night.

Big Parade Tomorrow.

The feature for Wednesday will be the great industrial parade which will surpass anything of the kind ever seen in Wilmington. The marshals for the parade will be Messrs. T. R. Ames, R. C. Cantwell, Jr., S. M. Boatwright, Meares Harriss, M. A. Curtis and J. P. Herring.

The line of march will be as follows: The parade will form at Tenth and Market, down Market to Fifth, Fifth to Castle, Castle to Front, Front to Walnut, Walnut to Third, Third to City Hall.

The band that has been engaged for the four days of the show will furnish music at the opening this morning.

CLAIM BREACH OF CONTRACT

Grand Rapids Show Case Co. Start Suit Against Mr. L. Lipinsky.

The Grand Rapids Show Case Co. has instituted suit in Superior court against Mr. L. Lipinsky, in which they seek to recover $2,000 and the costs of the action because of the alleged failure of the defendant to carry out a contract to purchase from the plaintiff's store equipment consisting of revolving wardrobes, show cases, etc. The plaintiff is represented by John D. Bellamy & Son.

The plaintiff alleges in the complaint which was filed for record yesterday that a contract was entered into on August 9th by which the plaintiff agreed to provide plans and specifications and submit them to the defendant, who agreed to buy store equipment. The complaint set forth that the plaintiffs sent one of their skilled men to Wilmington to prepare plans which were submitted to Mr. Maurice Lipinsky, who, it is claimed, seemed well pleased with them. However, on the next day, the complaint alleges, the other nor and agent looked over the plans and that action was delayed. Later, it is claimed that Mr. Maurice Lipinsky informed the agent of the plaintiff that it would not be necessary for him to remain longer as he had decided to order the supplies from another house. It is further claimed that the defendant did enter into a contract with another house.

PRAISES DR. R. W. HOGUE.

Mr. J. Allan Taylor Thinks Baltimore Rector Unjustly Treated.

In a recent issue of the Baltimore Sun there appears a communication from Mr. J. Allan Taylor, of Wilmington, in which he speaks in the highest praise of Rev. Dr. Richard W. Hogue, former rector of St. James' Episcopal church in this city, and expresses the view that the Baltimore minister is being subjected to unjust treatment. Mr. Taylor's letter to The Sun follows:

"My attention has been called to a recent issue of The Sun giving an account of the dropping of the name of Rev. Richard W. Hogue, former rector of Ascension Protestant Episcopal church from the roll of the Maryland Diocese, and the request of Bishop Murray for his resignation, and that neither Mr. Hogue nor the Church of the Revelation, Mr. Hogue's present charge, will be represented in the approaching Episcopal convention, and that the Bishop will probably demand the surrender of the name "Revelation" by the church now being served by Mr. Hogue.

"Mr. Hogue served St. James parish at Wilmington, N. C., for more than five years, and a more popular minister, both with his own people and the public generally, never lived in our midst. He was always of liberal mind and strongly inclined to social service work, and his labors in Wilmington were recognized, and are still remembered, as a benediction. I was a member of his vestry while he was rector of St. James, and in this relation came to know him well and estimate him at his true worth. I have seen him tested in many matters and in various ways, and he is as true and loyal and Christ-like a man as I ever knew. After serving St. James most faithfully and rendering a community service unequalled by any minister of the city, he accepted a call to the State University for work among the student body, where he labored most successfully until called to Baltimore. Happily, both for himself and for those among whom and with whom he labored, Mr. Hogue has got away from the technical position of religious regularity, which binds and limits a minister's influence and work in these days which call for adaptability to new and ever-changing conditions. It is said of government that an organism that cannot respond to change of environment will eventually lose its hold on and authority over the people, and I hold this to be no less true of the church. The church was ordained and instituted for men and not men for the church, and if the church is to retain its influence among men it must show an adaptability to the needs of men.

"The purpose to undertake social service work manifested at the recent general convention of the Episcopal church was far in advance of Mr. Hogue's position, and no effort was made to discipline men holding the most radical views on the subject. If the Episcopal church cannot meet the needs of the times it would seem that another reformation is in order.

MR. BAIRD WAS SAVED.

Son of Maj. J. G. Baird, of Charlotte, Did Not Go Down on Marina.

Wilmington friends of Maj. J. G. Baird, of Charlotte, Past Grand Chancellor of the State Pythians, have been very much gratified to learn that the first reports that his son, Mr. J. G. Baird, Jr., was one of the missing when the steamer Marina was sunk off the coast of Ireland on October 28th, were unfounded. Although young Baird is now known to be safe, his parents have been unable thus far to locate him.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer prints an interesting letter from young Baird to his parents, which was mailed from Glasgow, Scotland, October 21, in which he gives an interesting and descriptive story of what he saw in Europe, stating that in Scotland it is hard to realize that a great war is in progress. Another feature mentioned is that it is bitterly cold there at present.

CLAIM THEY WERE SWINDLED.

Police Officers, However, Found Circus People Blameless.

The police received several reports yesterday afternoon concerning alleged "short changing" of patrons on the circus grounds. Plainclothes officers made an investigation but found that the so-called offenses were the result of carelessness on the part of the plaintiffs, who hurriedly went away without their change. In one instance an officer was notified by a ticket seller of the shows that one man had left without getting his change. County officers received several complaints about pickpockets, one negro claiming that he had lost $159 in this way.

David Loftin, colored, reported at the police station last night that his house at Middle Sound had been robbed during the afternoon, and considerable goods stolen.

VILLA MARCHING TOWARD MESA DE SANDIAS, IS REPORT.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 6.—Francisco Villa and his main command are marching toward Mesa De Sandias, 35 miles southwest of Parral, where a quantity of ammunition and arms and a large drove of horses are known to be hidden for the Villa forces, according to an American refugee from Chihuahua City. These are hidden in the ranch of General Urbina, the Villa general who was killed by Villa troops because he would not divide his loot with Villa.

It was in the direction of Mesa de Sandias that Villa was going when he was being pursued by Major Tompkins, who was subsequently attacked by a crowd of civilians in Parral.

Passengers arriving tonight from Chihuahua City said that the feeling of apprehension among the people there had been greatly allayed because of the arrangements of General Trevino to protect the city against a surprise attack. No reports have been yet received regarding the Americans in Parral, he said, but refugees from Santa Rosalia confirmed the death of Dr. C. H. Fisher, an American, at the hands of the bandits who raided that place.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Republican and Democratic campaign managers renewed their claims tonight that Kentucky would give its electoral vote to their party's candidate. Republican leaders claim the state for Hughes by at least 9,200 votes and declare they are certain to elect five out of the 11 representatives. A plurality in the state of not less than 15,000 is claimed for President Wilson by Democratic managers.

NEW POSTOFFICES AUTHORIZED

Both Navassa and Snug Haven to Have Their Mail Pouches Sent Out From Wilmington Office.

That a postoffice will be established at Navassa provided a competent man and location for it can be secured, was the announcement made yesterday by Postmaster H. McL. Green, of Wilmington, who was recently asked by the Postoffice Department at Washington, to make a recommendation as to the advisability of establishing a postoffice there. The department has recently authorized and there has been established a fourth-class office at Snug Haven.

Although the office at the last-named place, which is near Villa View, was established about three weeks ago and Mr. Sheppard, of Snug Haven, named as its first postmaster, no official way of delivering mail there from the Wilmington postoffice has as yet been devised. As a matter of accommodation, Mr. J. O. Hinton, manager of the City Laundry, here, is acting as volunteer carrier by taking the mail down every evening in his machine. As he resides at Villa View this causes him little inconvenience. In a short time the department will authorize the making up of a pouch, and when this is done mail will be sent down on the Beach car operated by the Tidewater Power Company. The population of Snug Haven numbers now about 350 souls, white and colored.

Although the Navassa postmaster will receive only about $100 per annum, for a man already in business there this sum is not to be despised, especially as fourth-class postmasters have the opportunity of adding to their income by securing recruits for the United States army. For every enlistment they receive the sum of $5. Mr. Henry T. Lewis, who keeps a store at Navassa, has announced to Postmaster Green that he intends to apply for the postmastership there. The office there will have about 300 patrons, all but about four families resident there being colored citizens who work at the Navassa fertilizer factories. It is about five miles away from the nearest postoffice.

LEGEND OF THE DONKEY

Showing Why the Arabs Beat the Brute With Impunity.

In his article on his journey to Babylon, in Harper's, William Warfield tells a legend prevailing among the natives by which they justify beating of donkeys, but not horses.

"We stopped to change our mules. In the roadway before the khan sat a group of Arabs. A servant supplied them with little cups of tea from a rude samovar. We saluted them, and taking our places in the circle, we were served in turn. Some one in the dark doorway was tuhmping away on a drum. A boy came out of the khan beating a poor lame donkey with fly infested sores. I turned to one of my neighbors:

"'Is it not cruel for that boy to beat a lame donkey in that way?'

"'Effendi, it is the will of God!'

"'But you do not allow horses or camels to be beaten thus.'

"'Effendi, the donkey is not like the horse, nor yet is he like the camel. The reason is this: Upon a certain day the donkeys went before Allah and complained that they were grievously beaten by men, so that life was a greater burden than they could bear. Then said Allah: 'I cannot make men cease from beating you. It is no sin, neither does it cause them any great loss. But I will help you. I will give you so thick a hide that, however much you are beaten, you shall not suffer.'

"'So,' said my informant, 'it is of no consequence if men beat a donkey. So thick a skin did Allah give him that after he dies men use it in the making of drums and the donkey continues to be beaten after death.'"

FIND BAUXITE IN BAD LANDS

South Dakota Clay Beds May Rival Southern Aluminum Deposits.

(Sioux City, Ia., Tribune.)

The South Dakota "Bad Lands," on the Little White river, long have been viewed as a particularly worthless stretch of country. The black shale hills do not even produce buffalo grass.

Now it is claimed that the "Bad Lands" are rich in bauxite clay, showing about 48 per cent aluminum. The rumors, even before they are fully verified, will induce great activity in mineral filings in that region.

As aluminum cannot be produced profitably under present quotations except with the use of immense power plants, many of the day dreamers in South Dakota naturally associate the bauxite finds with the power possibilities of Big Bend and Little Bend, on the Missouri river. If either of these water power projects could be developed the refining of aluminum could be undertaken on a large scale in South Dakota.

Aside from the alleged find in South Dakota the only known aluminum deposits in the United States are in Georgia, Arkansas and Arizona. The first bauxite discoveries were made at Baux, France, and this town gave the clay its name. The material there was 50 per cent pure aluminum. Arkansas deposits run 57 to 61 per cent and Georgia beds yield as high as 65 per cent.

Peel off Your Freckles

To remove freckles, blotches or any complexion difficulty, the best thing to do is to remove the skin itself. This is easily and harmlessly done by the application of ordinary mercolized wax. The wax peels off the defective outer skin, a little each day, gradually bringing the second layer of skin to view. The new skin is beautifully soft, clear, white and young looking. Just procure an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell.

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

WILMINGTON'S CONTRIBUTION FIVE THOUSAND FOR WILSON

Local Campaign Committee Reaches Goal Set for Continuing "Peace and Prosperity" President in the White House—Last Day Brought Many Substantial Amounts to State and Local Workers—A Notable Achievement for "City by the Sea."

The Five Thousand Dollar goal set by the Wilmington Woodrow Wilson Club as the amount of its contribution to the re-election of the "Peace and Prosperity" President of the Nation has been reached and is now on the way to the National Democratic committee, which will be using it today to make doubly sure of the return of a Democratic administration to four more years of people's rule.

Yesterday voluntary, free-will, solicited and unsolicited contributions kept coming into the committees and to State financial headquarters until early last night when Chairman W. A. McGirt, of the local club, and State Treasurer MacRae could only cry, "Hold, enough!" There are left even a few amounts to be called for today, so that it may be said Wilmington has even gone beyond the mark.

The committee headed by Mr. Thos. E. Cooper did especially good work.

The most substantial contribution was $100 additional by Mr. H. McL. Green and, by the way, although he had already contributed very handsomely, it was remarked that the subscription was one of the most graceful received during the day.

Another very handsome contribution was that of State Senator W. B. Cooper, who had also previously contributed, but who very graciously tendered the committee another check in order that "Wilmington and Wilson" might win. And so on through the list each item in the new contributions shown today might be individually singled out and commented upon, but they are all very handsome indeed and are given first place of honor in the entire list for the whole campaign as published below.

And not only did the majority of the citizens who contributed yesterday give the amounts set opposite their respective names, but they gave assurance of cordial support to President Wilson and an expression of hope that he would be sure to win in the great battle of ballots over the country today. Some, even, who did not care for personal mention in connection with their subscriptions, spoke most hopefully of the situation and expressed an earnest desire for a continuance of Democratic administration of government at Washington.

The most pleasant news at all and the most hopeful was from a public-spirited Wilmingtonian, who called up last night shortly before 10 o'clock and inquired as to the progress of the campaign, asking that he be put down for whatever was needed to make up the full amount. When told that the committee was then out at work on a small deficit and would probably get the full amount, he said "put me down, if you like, for $25 anyway." And he would just as cheerfully have made it one hundred and twenty-five, if it were needed. His name would be given in spite of himself but for his proverbial modesty, and The Star merely trespasses upon his good nature to say that his name appears on the list below very near the top.

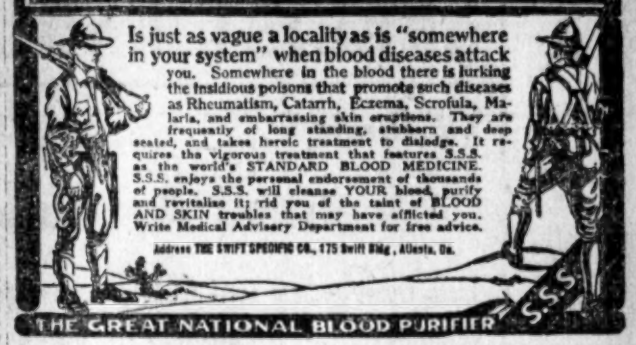
SOMEWHERE IN MEXICO!!



Is just as vague a locality as is "somewhere in your system" when blood diseases attack you. Somewhere in the blood there is lurking the insidious poisons that promote such diseases as Rheumatism, Catarrh, Eczema, Scrofula, Malaria, and embarrassing skin eruptions. They are frequently of long standing, stubborn and deep seated, and takes heroic treatment to dislodge. It requires the vigorous treatment that features S.S.S. as the world's STANDARD BLOOD MEDICINE. S.S.S. enjoys the personal endorsement of thousands of people. S.S.S. will cleanse YOUR blood, purify and revitalize it; rid you of the taint of BLOOD AND SKIN troubles that may have afflicted you. Every grocery store has its customers who order POSTUM regularly instead of coffee.

They are former coffee drinkers who, for health's sake, changed their table drink.

If you suspect that coffee contributes to your discomfort or illness, ask the grocer for the names of several POSTUM users in your neighborhood; get in touch with them and hear their story.

Or, secure a tin of INSTANT POSTUM and try it on the family table for ten days instead of coffee.

DEATH TOLL OF WRECK ON N. S. MAY REACH SIX

Wilson White Man and a Negro Probably Fatally Injured.

Funeral of Conductor Sallinger Held Yesterday—Wake Democrats in Good Shape—Governor Craig Campaigning in West.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6.—The funeral of Conductor C. A. Sallinger, of the Norfolk Southern railway, who lost his life in the wreck of No. 18 passenger train Saturday afternoon near Zebulon, was held from the residence in this city this morning with Masonic honors. He was a member of William G. Hill lodge, this city. He had been in the service of the Norfolk Southern for 18 years and leaves a widow and three children.

Indications are that the wreck was due to a switch having been left unlocked and preliminary investigation indicates, it is said, that the last man who had to do with the switch was J. E. Weddington, brakeman on freight train No. 95, which passed this point about an hour ahead of the ill-fated passenger train. There are witnesses who testify that the switch lock, after the wreck, was hanging unlocked on the chain that held it while not in the switch hasp.

There are grave fears now that J. E. L. Crute, of Wilson, who was severely injured in the wreck, will die, his injuries having proven much more serious than at first thought. James Morgan, a negro thought at first to be only slightly injured, has developed symptoms of a broken back and his death is expected. If these two die they will make six fatalities.

The Charlotte Electrical Exposition (Inc.), of Charlotte, received a charter today without capital stock. The company is to have fees and dues from members and proposes to exhibit and demonstrate to the public electrical appliances of any and all kinds for members of the organization. The incorporators are E. F. Taylor, R. H. Westbrook and W. H. Peeps.

An order issued today at National Guard headquarters here provides for the voluntary retirement of Capt. W. L. Ross, of First division coast artillery to the retired list, effective November 15th.

Big Majority in Wake.

In rounding out the speech-making campaign and marshaling workers for the final rally at the polls Tuesday, Chairman J. M. Broughton, Jr., of the Wake county Democratic executive committee, says the rural precincts out in the county will probably give 1,000 to 1,500 majority for the Democratic ticket and that in the Raleigh precincts the majority will probably be 2,000. He believes that the vote will be a very full one if the weather conditions are good and that Wake will roll up one of the best majorities for Democracy of any county in the State.

Governor Craig will make his final campaign speech today at Canton and will then go to Asheville to be on hand there Tuesday to cast his ballot for Woodrow Wilson and the rest of the Democratic ticket. Before leaving Raleigh he expressed himself as especially well pleased with conditions in the Democratic campaign. He expects 45,000 or 50,000 majority and believes that President Wilson will lead the ticket in this State. He believes Zebulon Weaver will win over Congressman J. J. Britt and that all the other Democratic congressmen will be re-elected by good majorities, assuring to North Carolina a solid Democratic delegation in Congress and to the Tenth Congressional district a full share in the legislative affairs of the Nation at Washington the next four years.

$35,000 FOR TWO FOXES.

The Silver Variety is the Most Valuable of Fur-Bearers.

(From the Detroit News.)

Prince Edward Island, lying northeast of the State of Maine, has within a few years developed a silver fox industry of enormous proportions. Climatic conditions for the enterprise are considered more favorable there than anywhere else. There are 233 fox ranches, of which 161 are owned by incorporated companies. In these ranches are nearly 2,500 foxes of all grades, of which 1,325 are classed as silver black.

The provincial government derives a revenue of 1 per cent. of the young foxes born from year to year, and last year $37,000 was collected. At present the value of the foxes and the ranches in the island is more that $10,000,000, which is 25 per cent in excess of the value of all the horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry on the well stocked farms in the province.

The value of silver fox skins is shown by the fact that at the great auction sale in St. Louis, some single undressed skins brought $1,000 each. It is not uncommon for a coat of silver fox to cost from $5,000 to $10,000.

The rise of the value of the first class breeding stock of Prince Edward Island has been meteoric. In 1910 a pair of silver fox breeders could be bought for $4,000; today they bring from $15,000 to $35,000. The average female fox will breed eight to ten times during her life, and each litter will contain from two to seven pups.

The silver fox is really a black fox, instead, as some persons suppose, of being almost white or a silver gray. The name is given on account of the presence of glistening white and grayish hairs which appear among the black. In the better grades the long, silky brush has a tip of pure white.

About a quarter of a century ago the little animal which weighs when full grown only about 12 pounds, became almost extinct. Because of the beauty of its fur, the species was trapped until the last of them had disappeared. For a long time the standard price offered by the Hudson Bay Company for silver fox pelts was around $1,000, and the efforts of the French-Canadians, half-breeds and Indian trappers to obtain this sum, to them a fortune, can be better imagined than described.

SHE WAS 'EVERY INCH A MAN"

Women Clamy Smoked a Big, Black Cigar Before Curious Onlookers.

St. Cloud (Minn.) Dispatch.)

"There is no privilege (puff) a woman should not have (puff, puff) that a man has."

With this declaration of independence a huntress whose dog's collar bore the name of Anna Backson nonchalently flecked the ashes from a long black cigar and resumed her after dinner smoke.

"Why shouldn't I smoke cigars?" militantly inquired "Diana," on further interruption. "Isn't it just as good as to be puging at cigarettes as some women do, and also some men?"

Miss Backson—unless the dog's engraved collar belied her name—provided a movie like spectacle for the natives as she stood garbed in hunting attire, a gun in the crook of her arm, her faithful hound at her feet and her mouth calmly shifting the cigar from corner to corner as she satisfied the curious that she was "every inch a man."

HIS RECORD IS 3,900 SUNDAYS

Isle of Wight Patriarch Has Not Missed a Service in 75 Years.

(London Chronicle)

A shining light in primitive Methodism, William Cheverton, known among his Isle of Wight friends as "Bishop Cheverton," the Isle of Wight, died in his 96th year.

For more than 75 years this aged farmer and eloquent preacher took services regularly, without missing a single appointment for the primitive Methodists.

His family kept from him all news of the war; in fact, he died without knowledge of war matters since August, 1914.

BROOKS THRILLS BIG AUDIENCE IN ONSLOW

Rally at Jacksonville a Red Letter Day for Democracy.

Guilford Man's Great Address Preceded by Big Parade of Fifty Automobiles and 800 Pedestrians. Wilson Leading.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Jacksonville, N. C., Nov. 6.—With band playing, 50 automobiles and over 800 citizens in the parade and with over 1,500 citizens present, Onslow Democracy came to its own today as it never did before. If there was anything that could have been said for Democracy that was omitted by A. L. Brooks, it was not perceived.

He was at his best and the crowd being with him added impetus to his speech. It was a grand address, grand because it was a Democratic address and was delivered by A. L. Brooks. It took well and helped out the Democratic party in the county. If there was any argument made by any Republican during the campaign that was not referred to and met, then this writer has been blinded.

Mr. Brooks first took up State politics and referred to the matchless record of Aycock and others. He contrasted this with the record of Butler and Russell and when this part of his speech had been completed his audience, which had been over 95 per cent Democratic, became 100 per cent.

He placed Woodrow Wilson upon the pinnacle of Democracy and declared that he, more than any other man in the Nation's history, had befriended the farmer and laboring classes of the country. A brass band had preceded Mr. Brooks' speech with Dixie and and that within itself was enough to get the 1,500 folks to receive Brooks' speech in a welcome manner.

The court house would not hold half the folks that wanted to hear the gentleman from Guilford, but it was well that the vast audience who could squeeze in was present. These appreciated it and told their friends who couldn't hear the address.

Tomorrow will tell the tale. Brooks' speech will have a deal to do with the outcome in Onslow, and the county that gets the silk flag will have to look to Onslow as a friendly worthy foe.

Woodrow Wilson will lead the ticket in this county. M. M. C.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 6.—The campaign in Colorado ended tonight with speeches by Governor Carlson, Republican candidate for re-election, and J. C. Gunter, his Democratic opponent. Republican leaders predict Carlson will win by 30,000 votes and Hughes by almost as many. Democrats claim a 40,000 plurality for Wilson and a sweeping victory for the state ticket.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Is not a matter of rush and grind and struggle. It is simply the happy faculty of recognizing opportunities when you come in contact with them, and following those opportunities to their logical conclusion. It is not WORK and SAVING alone that has made men wealthy in this country—it is the development of the great natural resources that have been stored in the bosom of the earth for centuries. Nature pleads with her children to develop these resources, and gives as a reward wealth and independence.

OPPORTUNITY, JUDGMENT AND COURAGE

Is the combination which unlocks the door to fortune.

On the whole the tone was steady with January selling up to 19.12 in the late trading and closing at 19.10. The general list closed very steady at a net advance of 11 to 18 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 10 to 12 points and the active months sold 14 to 16 points net higher, shortly after the call in response to relatively firm cables. Considerable realizing was encountered, however, and January sold off from 19.09 to 18.98, and May from 19.36 to 19.24, or back to within 3 or 4 points of Saturday's final figures. Pressure then subsided, and the market firmed up again during the afternoon on the large export movement, covering further buying by spot interests and support from Wall Street sources. Demand from the latter direction became quite active in the late trading, with March selling up from 19.10 to 19.25, while May advanced to 19.40. The close was within a point or two of the best.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Quiet But Steady Tone Held in the Market Yesterday.

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—A quiet but steady tone prevailed in cotton today, prices holding at the advance, although trading was plainly restricted by the election and the holiday tomorrow. In the early trading active months stood 11 to 16 points up and in the afternoon the advance widened to 18 to 21 points. Closing prices were very steady, 17 to 20 points up.

Better cables than due were mainly responsible for the opening advance. There were expectations of a bullish ginning report Wednesday morning, while the highest prices of the season were reached following the marking up of spot quotations by 13 points and the posting of large exports, all United States ports clearing 77,196 bales for the day.

The market had little selling power at any time. Closing bids: December 18.52; January, 18.67; March, 18.90; May, 19.10; July, 19.21.

Spot steady 13 points up. Sales on the spot 1,200, to arrive 525; middling, 18.38.

DEMOCRATS WILL CALL BLUFF OF REPUBLICANS

Will Punish Them for Wholesale Groundless Challenges.

This Course to Be Pursued in New Bern Section, at Least, Says Chairman Warren—Predicts 40,000 Majority.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6.—Returning from New Bern today, State Chairman Thomas D. Warren, of the State Democratic executive committee, says the Democracy in that section and wherever the Republicans have launched their policy of wholesale challenges of Democratic voters, are thoroughly aroused and will see to it that the Republicans are thorougly punished at the polls tomorrow for their unjustifiable and fool-hardy bluff, which is all that their latest move amounts to.

He says that in New Bern section nearly all of those challenged are members of fire companies or other organizations in which membership carries with it exemption from payment of poll taxes, and practically all the rest of them are cases where the voters are past the poll tax age. This latter condition applies to such men as W. B. Blades, William Dunn, Sr., and numbers of others of the foremost business men of the section, whose votes are under futile challenge by the Republicans.

Chairman Warren says the same conditions apply to the challenges that have been made in Mecklenburg and other counties by the Republicans and tha they will have the very good effect of spurring to the utmost the effort of the Democratic workers at the polls to more completely overwhelm the Republicans in the battle of ballots throughout North Carolina.

Mr. Warren is sure that the Democratic majorities in the State will round out not less than 40,000 and may go to 50,000 or more. He believes that Wilson will lead the ticket in spite of the fact that in past presidential years the presidential vote has fallen behind the State ticket. He is confident that the Democratic majorities in the House and Senate of the Legislature will be easily maintained and that every one of the ten congressional districts will elect the Democratic candidate, assuring again a solid Democratic delegation in Congress.

name to influence pending legislation. Evidence was multiplied that strong bodies of men united to defeat members of Congress who opposed the legislation they desired, or sought to put laws on the statute books not favored by them. The trail of the lobbyist was found in a score of ways. The President's warning and the work of the lobby committee served to put Congress and the people on their guard, and the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill was freer from attack by this old enemy of tariff reduction than any other tariff measure passed for many years. The principal lobbyists fled from Washington like rats deserting a sinking ship, and 'their extensive bureaus of misinformation were closed,' and Congress was enabled to continue its work of shaping and passing, not only the tariff law, but also the other laws which go to make up the impressive showing of the Wilson administration. An interesting revelation brought out by the lobby investigation was the manner in which the American Sugar Refining Company, the old trust that dominated the cane sugar industry, was connected up with the Beet Sugar Trust with a view to preventing cutting of prices. It was shown that the former trust had acquired heavy holdings of the stock of the Beet Sugar Trust, the Michigan Beet Sugar Co., and other so-called independent beet sugar concerns established in the West. The Michigan Beet Sugar Co., had as its president Charles B. Warren, then and now a member of the Republican National Committee. The lobby investigation made it appear that Warren was the agent of the old sugar trust in the operation whereby it controlled the beet sugar industry. A decision of the Supreme Court having made the old sugar trust's control of the beet sugar concerns dangerous, Warren kindly bought from the old trust large blocks of its beet sugar holdings. According to Warren's own testimony before the lobby investigations, he bought of these stocks 'just sufficiently to get down to a point of safety from prosecution under the trust act.' There was good reason to believe that these purchases were not in good faith and that there was no desire to comply honestly with the anti-trust laws. This is the same Warren who is now a member of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee by designation of the Republican candidate for President of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes.

Fighting the Ancient Enemy.

"President Wilson was fighting the ancient arch enemy of American Republicanism—the spirit of monopoly and aristocracy. No President in this pace-setting republic of the new world has ever so fully caught and worn the mantle of Jefferson as he. In the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson, passing by as a mere incident the immediate complaint of the 13 colonies against the mother country, went on to base the justice of our demand for liberty upon the inherent Rights of Man. As has been well said, President Wilson 'expresses the passionate idealism that is the soul of America,' and he saw that if he became the true leader of an Exodus out from the galling boudage of a commercial aristocracy, in which America had become enchained, he would have to do so by getting rid of the lobby. It was the tyrant Pharaoh who was constantly multiplying the task masters of Privilege to oppress the people. In his wonderful victory over the lobby at the beginning of his administration he has paved the way for his masterly series of legislation, in the passage of which ex-President Eliot says there has been rendered a 'consummate service to the American people.'

Wilson Not Appreciated Yet.

"Because we are so near to the wonder and the glory of the event itself, we are hardly able to realize the measure of Woodrow Wilson's success, and it will never be known until historians in coming days begin to write the history, how much of these successes is due to the exile of the professional lobbyist. It is devoutly to be wished that this leaven that has begun to work in the National Congress may soon find its way into the legislatures of all our states. I have not only in mind such Augean stables as the legislature of Pennsylvania, which state has been accused of wallowing contentedly year in and year out in the mire of corruption, or of the legislature of New Jerseu, before Governor Woodrow Wilson played the role of Hercules and cleaned it out, but I think we need to consider even North Carolina. Too frequently men are seen in our State Capitol, who are there with the sinister purpose of influencing legislation and diverting it into the channels of selfish interest.

"It is because of his victory over the lobby that President Wilson was able to make that lucid review of his own administration in his address at Shadow Lawn, Saturday, October 28, when he said, after pointing out how the Democratic and the Progressive party had united to do what has been done, these words:

"'What have they accomplished? They have put both the business and the life of the country upon a new footing. They have released the financial credit, upon which commerce and production alike depend, from the control of small groups of financiers and bankers at the speculative centers. They have released the commerce and industry of the country from the domination of those who were building up their power by selfish and unfair methods of competition. They have supplied those who wished to conduct their business in conformity with the spirit of the laws with friendly guidance and delivered them from a nervous fear of the courts. They have released our foreign trade from the shackles of a tariff contrived in the interest of special groups of favored producers, and have created a Tariff Commission intended to substitute public for private influences, facts for theories and pretensions, in all future legislation with regard to duties and restrictions on imports. They have made provision for the immediate and systematic development of our carrying trade on the seas. They have at last supplied the means by which the Nation may be bound together, materially and spiritually, by a network of good roads upon which both commodities and sympathies may move freely from community to community. They have put the farmer upon a footing of perfect equality with business men and men of all other callings in respect of his access to commercial credit; have placed a great bureau of the government at his service in seeking and finding his best markets; have protected him by the establishment of definite standards in the sale of his products, and have put the scientific knowledge of the world at his disposal by practical demonstration at the expense of the government upon the farms themselves. They have emancipated the laborers of the country from the unjustified restraints which the courts had put upon them by mistaken applications of old law to new circumstances and conditions. They have released the children of the country in large part from hurtful labor; have sought to safeguard the lives and the health of our laborers in dangerous occupations; and have put agencies of the government itself at the service of those who seek employment. And most of those things have been done within the brief limits of a single administration.'

Waited 16 Years.

"Sixteen long years the people hoped and longed for the constructive legislation which was denied them. It could never have been secured unless the lobby had been shorn of its power. Lobbying in Congress and lobbying in legislatures is as pestiferous as malaria, and it required the surgeon's knife in the hands of Woodrow Wilson to save National legislation from its ravages. On Tuesday we will not only elect Woodrow Wilson President and guarantee that the lobby which he drove out, now hungry as a wolf, will not be permitted to return to fatten upon the people, but we will also elect Thos. W. Bickett as Governor. In our own State the miasma of the lobby needs to be expelled. We have seen in Raleigh with each incoming legislature an influx of lobbyists and the employment of lobbyists at the State Capitol who have often thwarted the will of the people of this State. The short session of the Legislature does not open the eyes of the legislators to the pestilential character of this lobby until the session draws near its close. Our new Governor, following in the footsteps of Aycock, Glenn, Kitchin and Craig, will do many great things for North Carolina, but there is one service he can render immediately upon his inauguration, and that is to turn the calcium light on the lobby and to drive it out of the State Capitol as it has been driven out of the National Capitol. Its expulsion is necessary to insure good legislation. There has been a scandal that men, most of them members of the honorable profession of the law, have camped in Raleigh much of the 60 days and have taken money to promote or to oppose public measures. The time has come when they must be driven out of the capital where they have too long been tolerated. It may take vigorous measures to do it but under the leadership of Bickett it must be done. Unless it is done, much of the best legislation will fall by the way-side. The practice has grown up in North Carolina, as in other states where it has been said to the eternal disgrace of the profession, lawyers accept fees to lobby against measures for the public weal. Some of them who have been members of the General Assembly even so far forget the ethics of their profession as to avail themselves of the privileges of the floor to ply their nefarious trade of lobbying. Wilson gave it a solar plexus blow at Washington. Bickett will make certain the carrying out the important reform to which he is committed if he will prevent its entrance into the Capitol at Raleigh when he is inaugurated. The appearance of an ex-Congressman or an ex-Legislator in the role of a lobbyist in Washington or Raleigh should be made impossible by law. Public opinion should enforce such a law. There is a clear line of division between an attorney appearing before a committee disclosing the fact that he appears for a certain client and an attorney or other lobbyist seeking to influence legislation by reason of his legal, personal or political influence. I have seen in Raleigh men who have been trusted by their people taking money to defeat legislation of the highest importance to all the people and actually plying their nefarious trade on the floors of the House and Senate. Woodrow Wilson was enabled to carry through the constructive programme of the Democratic party because the lobbyists were afraid to show their heads. They have not been so bold in North Carolina of late as in former years. If necessary, whip cords must be used to free the Capitol of their baneful presence."

North Carolina's High Place.

Secretaary Daniels spoke in terms of warm praise of the high place North Carolina occupied in the National councils, particularly emphasizing the peculiar and unprecedented fact that this State in the persons of Simmons and Kitchin has the chairmanship of the most important committees in Senate and House. Never in the history of the State has the congressional delegation held such important committee assignments or contributed so largely to the completed legislation which has blessed the Republic, he said.

WATCH FLIES, NOT BULLETS

Doctor's Advice to Soldier Boys Now Leaving for the Border.

"Never mind the bullets, but watch out for the flies," is the advice of an army surgeon, who served in the war in Cuba and who has recently been in service at the various army posts along the Mexican border, to the North Carolina boys now leaving for the banks of the Rio Grande. He says that there is more danger from flies alone in Mexico than from hot weather and bullets combined and that there's safety to be had only behind screens and not even then unless the greatest care is taken with the food and water.

As to anti-typhoid vaccine as a preventive against typhoid fever, he says that it is a great thing, a wonderful thing, but unless the boys take the utmost care as to their eating, drinking, their personal hygiene and their sleeping, that not even will vaccination keep off all typhoid fever, but that it will reduce their chances against it over a thousand times. "Then, too," says he, "there's pneumonia to guard against, for the thermometer in Mexico runs to 160 in the sun and from 106 to 108 in the shade, while at nights it often drops so low as to bring on a sudden chill. This makes pneumonia dangerous, but with the proper care of one's self, a man may keep fit and avoid sickness.

"Another health hazard," says the doctor, "that a soldier is likely to encounter down in Mexico is typhus fever. As you know, it is carried from one to another by the body louse just as malaria or yellow fever is carried by the mosquito. Carefulness and good personal hygiene is again one of the best preventives. Frequent bathing and clean clothes do much to keep off the louse and down the infection, while naphthalene, kerosene and various powders are recommended for killing the lice and nits.

"But," says the doctor, "if a soldier has been vaccinated against typhoid and smallpox and will guard against infection and will practice daily as much personal hygiene as is possible, these will give him his best chances for coming back home."

TO SPEED 55 MILES AN HOUR.

Torpedo Boat Speeder Built for Coast Defense.

Some interest has been attracted of late by a proposal to construct large fleets of torpedo-carrying speed boats for coast defense purposes. A Michigan boat designed, who claims the distinction of being the inventor of the first hydroplane, has submitted plans for a fast type of armed craft to the Government.

It is to be a 70-foot vessel designed to carry one torpedo tube at its bow, two machine guns amidships, a crew of 10 men, and develop a maximum speed of 55 miles an hour. The boat, as planned, is of the twin-screw type and equipped with dual engines, each capable of producing approximately 600 horsepower. It offers adequate quarters for the officers and men and would be vulnerable only when hit below the water line. It is estimated that the craft could be built in quantities for $20,000, which means that 500, or more, could be manufactured for the price of one modern dreadnaught.

The great speed of the vessels would make them extremely poor targets, and the crew could easily be protected from machine gun fire.

BIRD LOVES STAGNANT POOLS.

Sandpiper Never Longs for Seashore or Clean River.

(Philadelphia North American.)

During the summer months, when nearly everybody is hunting for an ocean, a clean river or a mountain lake for vacation purposes, the sandpiper contents himself with a dirty, stagnant pond away in the woods. If the dragon flies, caterpillars and spiders get so numerous that they bother him, he reduces the pest population by eating them.

He's called "solitary" because he despises crowds. Give this sandpiper a stagnant pool, a good wife and plenty of dragon flies, and he doesn't care if there are no neighbors in the township. Accordingly he's not so very well known among bird lovers who are used to counting birds in flocks.

If you happen to find one, however, you'll recognize him by his dark brown back and his white breast, streaked with dusky stripes. In autumn, before the solitary sandpiper leaves for his winter home in the south, the streaks almost disappear. He has a long, straight bill and spindly, awkward legs.

When you see him dart across a pond after a dragon fly and capture it with one snap of his bill, you'll know he isn't as awkward as he looks.

DR. GEORGE R. STUART COMING.

Dr. Stuart will deliver a platform lecture next Tuesday night at the Boys' Brigade Armory, on "Lop-Sided Folks," and it is expected that he will draw a good crowd in spite of the fact that it will be election night. The lecture will commence at eight o'clock. This will be a good way to pass time while waiting.

It is hardly necessary to say much about Dr. Stuart, as he is well known all over the country. At present he is pastor of the leading Methodist church in Birmingham, Ala. He comes highly recommended by such men as Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Len. G. Broughton and Sam. P. Jones. A number of years ago he was here with Sam. Jones, conducting a meeting.

Household Finances

Women find that it pays to run the financial end of the home on business principles, and we number among our depositors many ladies who carry household checking accounts and pay their bills by check.

By following this method, they have at all times a full and accurate accounting of every dollar paid out, as well as an indisputable receipt.
